

MITCHELL ENDS
LONG DEFENSE
BEFORE COURT

Prosecution Expects To Take Two Weeks for Rebutting Testimony of Stormy Air Petrel.

FIRST EVIDENCE
HEARD WEDNESDAY

About 100 Witnesses To Be Called by Army To Combat Charges Made by General Mitchell.

Washington, November 25.—The war and navy departments have begun to hit back at Colonel William Mitchell, court-martialed aviator.

The prosecution got underway Wednesday afternoon after Mitchell told his jury of generals that his case, so far as he was concerned, was closed.

Mitchell's prosecutors intend calling probably about 100 witnesses to combat his charges.

That the two departments propose fighting every charge made against them was evident when the prosecution, at the close of the defense, failed to make any of the expected motions to rid the record of Mitchell's defense evidence. Instead, it announced its readiness to proceed. Major General Mason W. Patrick, head of the army air service, and Rear Admiral William Moffett, chief of the navy's air force, will be among the prominent prosecution witnesses.

Mitchell's defense came to an abrupt ending with the reading of odds and ends of documents necessary to the rounding out of his case.

Immediately, Representative Frank S. Reid, Mitchell's chief counsel, asked for a recess over Thanksgiving to Monday. The prosecution joined in the request. The court declined, but ordered a recess until Friday, with a further recess Friday afternoon to Monday.

The prosecution began introduction of rebuttal testimony, reading into the record documents asked for by the defense, but not read by it. It is probable that prosecution witnesses will be called Friday.

The Hawaiian maneuvers and the Australian cruise last spring cost the navy $700,000, Secretary of the Navy Wilbur advised the Mitchell court-martial in response to a request. Excess fuel for the Hawaiian maneuvers is placed at $104,114.50, and for the Australian cruise at $515,409.68. The remainder of the expense includes repairs and other incidentals.

THANKSGIVING
VS.
TURKEY HASH

LOOKING forward to Thanksgiving dinner—turkey, and all the "fixins"—is the natural tendency of any normal and healthy American, but the turkey hash on the "cold, grey dawn of the morning after" is the penalty many of us pay for that joyful anticipation.

Not so, this year, if you are following the example of the many Atlantans who have formed the happy habit of "dining out."

Many of Atlanta's far-famed eating places have prepared a special treat for you this Thanksgiving day. Turn to WHERE TO DINE on the Classified Pages. If you're hunting turkey, you'll find it there.

SHOW INCREASE
DURING OCTOBER

Figures Announced at Public Service Commission
as Mayor Sims Replies to Relief Demands.

$12,235.94 LARGER
THAN LAST OCTOBER

Operating Revenue for Street Railway System
Last Month Was Almost $450,000.

Simultaneously with Mayor Sims' answer to the five items of relief asked by the Georgia Railway and Power company, figures were given out Wednesday afternoon from the offices of the Georgia public service commission showing net earnings of the Atlanta street railway system for October, 1925, to be $12,235.94 in excess of earnings of October, 1924.

These figures, which were separate from subsidiary branches of the Georgia Railway and Power company, showed operating revenue for the street railway system during October to have been $448,206.42, with expenses listed at $326,486.08. Revenue in October, 1924, was recorded as $423,504.08, with expenses, $314,320.28.

Net earnings of the power company as a whole during October, 1925, were shown to have decreased $10,037.94 as compared to October, 1924, but losses resulting from the prolonged summer drought counted heavily in the loss.

The mayor's comment on the five measures was contained in a formal letter to President Arkwright, and was substantially as follows:

Position of Mayor.

1.—While declaring himself heartily in favor of eliminating unnecessary car stops, the mayor said the material was one entirely within the jurisdiction of the Georgia public service commission.

2.—As to the concession the company asked with regard to discontinuance of at least one of the unnecessary, closely paralleling street railway lines, the mayor asked for additional information, pointing out that the city this year has granted similar requests.

3.—Flat opposition was voiced by the mayor to the request that the company be relieved of its gross income tax, the mayor declaring that the tax was agreed upon by the commission.

INSURANCE MAN
SERIOUSLY INJURED

$100,000-Year President of Home Company, Elected
Friday, November 13,
May Die of Injuries.

Hackensack, N. J., November 25.—(AP)—Frederick C. Buswell who started as a clerk for the Home Insurance company, of New York, in 1881, and was elected president on Friday, November 13, was struck and seriously injured by an automobile tonight. His skull was fractured and his right leg broken in two places.

George Titt, driver of the car which struck Mr. Buswell was held pending the outcome of the insurance man's injuries. Mr. Buswell was taken to a hospital.

He was associated with the Home Insurance company during the greater part of his business life. From a clerk in 1881 he rose until in 1902 he was second vice president. In 1904, he was appointed vice president and this month he was elected president, at a salary said to be $100,000.

He is a former president of the Southern Underwriters' association and of the national board of fire underwriters.

Trades Federation Hears
Power Company Refuses To Renew Present Contract for Incoming Year.

SAME WAGE SCALE
ASKED BY WORKERS

"Stubborn Situation,"
Union Leader Points
Out in Discussing Results of Parley on Plans.

The Atlanta local of the International Amalgamated Street and Electric Railway Employees' union "has reached an impasse with the Georgia Railway and Power company over the wage scale for 1926," it was announced Wednesday night by W. D. Malone, of New York, president of the international union, in addressing members of the local union at the Labor temple.

President Malone said that the street car men are endeavoring to sign a contract in December providing for continuance of the present wage scale, but power company heads "have served notice that they cannot renew the contract at the present scale and maintain service."

No comment was forthcoming Wednesday night on the matter by power company officials.

Calling on the local trades body for support in averting the possibility of a breach between street car men in Atlanta and the power company, Mr. Malone intimated that the "moral aid of the federation might be needed" before the matter is settled.

"It is a stubborn situation," Mr. Malone said. "The position the company has taken with us is not encouraging. The company complains about taxes and other demands and they say if they cannot change these, they cannot meet the requirements of our men. We may have to call upon the federation for aid. If we do, we believe that the Atlanta Federation of Trades will come to our rescue as in former days."

W. H. McMorris, of Cleveland, Ohio, supported the remarks of Mr. Malone, as did also W. B. McBrayer, local business agent of the international union, who said, "the street railway company is trying to bluff the public. They want the world with a fence around it."

Other speakers intimated that efforts may be made to revive jitneys and place them on the streets of Atlanta again to "give the people service that it not now being given by the street railway company."

Freston S. Arkwright, president of the Georgia Railway and Power company, spoke to the federation in behalf of the Community Chest, making a plea for a substantial donation. This was referred to the finance committee.

Washington, November 25.—(AP)—The regulations issued by the federal reserve board, prohibiting national banks and non-member clearing banks from charging exchange on checks drawn upon them and forwarded through federal reserve banks for collection, and the law under which the action was taken, in effect, were sustained today by the supreme court.

The par clearance controversy came before the court in an appeal by the Pascagoula National bank, of Moss Point and Pascagoula, Miss., which was refused an injunction by the United States court for northern Georgia, where it first challenged the constitutionality of the law and the regulations under which the federal reserve bank of Atlanta required it to remit in full on checks drawn upon it.

Counsel for the Pascagoula bank frequently was interrupted from the bench as he presented his oral argument, the members of the court planning.

SENATOR DOUMER
THROWS UP TASK

Talk of Dictatorship Pervades Paris Papers as Only Salvation From Financial Chaos.

BY RALPH HEINZEN.
United News Staff Correspondent.
Paris, November 25.—Edouard Herriot, radical socialist and former premier, is attempting to form a government which the conservative groups in the chamber fear may end in a socialist dictatorship.

Senator Paul Doumer admitted Wednesday afternoon. The conservative deputies thereupon appealed to President Doumerque not to call a socialist to form the government and charged the socialist party with trying to "establish a government of force and a revolutionary dictatorship."

Within an hour Herriot had been invited to head a government and had accepted.

Dictatorship Discussed.

"I am going to try to justify the confidence the president has placed in me," Herriot said as he emerged from the Elysee palace and forthwith began consultations to select a cabinet.

Talk of a dictatorship or some such extraconstitutional expedient to turn France from the path toward bankruptcy emerged from the category of scattered discussion to prominent position in three Paris newspapers Wednesday.

Newspaper Charges.

The Echo de Paris, representing the extreme Catholic right, and the Quotidien, representing the left coalition, exchanged charges of plot and counter-plot. The Echo de Paris says that the socialists and other left parties are agitating for a dictator who would impose their will on France. The Quotidien reversed the allegation by declaring that blue shirts, or French fascists, recently had passed from door to door among wealthy conservatives asking for contributions to buy arms with which to maintain a right dictator in power.

The Liberte, representing the extreme right, alleges that had Premier Painleve not fallen Monday "there would have been a series of raids against patriotic organizations of the right. Over the weekend, the paper says, all troops in the vicinity of Paris were held in readiness, and were supplied with arms."

At midnight Wednesday, Herriot

JONES BROTHERS
TO SEEK RELEASE
PENDING APPEAL

Washington, November 25.—(AP)—Application for release on bail, pending hearing on an appeal for Neufeld T. and Winfield Jones, of Baltimore, sentenced to serve two years for violation of the prohibition laws, will soon be made. Alvin L. Newmyer, of Washington, one of their attorneys, announced tonight. The record for the appeal, he said, is being prepared and when this is completed the application will be made.

Mr. Newmyer said the brothers would not begin to serve their sentence pending the appeal.

Five Points—
Where Atlanta Was Born.

How many of the nearly 300,000 people in Atlanta know the exact spot where the first house on the site of Atlanta was built; why and how it was built; and how the city of Atlanta grew up around it?

For the first time, all of these questions will be answered definitely in Dr. Sam Small's "MY STORY OF ATLANTA," the answers being secured from age-old private documents, historical records, and lore of the earliest settlers of north Georgia.

Hardy Ivy was Atlanta's first settler—and in the words of Dr. Small, "His humble plantation has proven a 'hardy ivy' indeed, clinging to those foothills with unconquerable tenacity and growing into a metropolis of perennial progress and public importance."

CONGESTION BAD
AT JACKSONVILLE

Travelers Held One to
Two Hours in Terminal
While the Tracks Are Cleared.

Possible reduction in the number of passenger trains between Atlanta and Jacksonville is seen as one plan for solution of the freight congestion which is now blocking railroad lines leading into Florida by James A. Perry, of the Georgia public service commission.

Commissioner Perry returned to Atlanta Wednesday after attending a conference in Jacksonville Tuesday between the interstate commerce commission, the Florida railroad commission, the Georgia commission and representatives of the shippers and the carriers. In addition to Commissioner Perry, the Georgia commission was represented by Chairman Paul B. Trammell and Commissioner Walter R. McDonald.

Commissioner Perry said that in some respects the freight congestion is worse than he had realized. Passenger trains entering or leaving the Jacksonville terminals are regularly delayed one or two hours on account of the congestion there, he stated.

"In some respects," said the commissioner, "the congestion is more acute than I had been informed. I am impressed that the ten days spent by Commissioners McManamy, of the I. C. C., and Mr. Bartell immediately preceding the conference has resulted in considerable improvement, and this, augmented with an improved method of handling the permit system, I am persuaded will overcome the congestion to a considerable degree. However, will the result be all that the public has a right to expect? While it is true the I. C. C. has an efficient crew of service men putting forth their best efforts to bring about relief, yet it must be borne in mind that the managerial authority on the part of the carriers that have, perhaps from reasons beyond their control, permitted this congestion to arise, is the same authority that the public must

GIRL'S PET DUCK,

IS SOLD FOR $540

Warren, Ohio, November 25.—(AP)—Evelyn Boran, 10-year-old school girl, had no money to give to the current community chest fund. Today she took her pet duck to school and gave it to the teacher, saying it was her contribution.

At a luncheon of chest fund workers, the duck was auctioned off, a part at a time. The bill brought $35, the feet $20 each, and the auctioneer collected $540 for the fund. Then the buyers surrendered title and the duck was returned to Eva tonight.

Clayton, Ga., November 25.—(Special).—W. B. Baker, a Presbyterian minister, shot and seriously wounded Carlton Jones at Tiger, Ga., last night. According to reports reaching here, Baker claims that he thought Jones was some one else and that he did not intend to shoot Jones.

Baker fired at his victim five times, emptying his revolver, the most serious shot going entirely through Jones' thigh, barely missing shattering the bone.

Baker was arrested and released on $1,000 bond. Details of the affair are lacking here.

Atlanta Today Will Sound
Mighty Symphony of Thanks

BY PAUL STEVENSON.
Today a mighty symphony of thanks will be heard in Atlanta as the people of this historic and hysteric city raise peans of gratitude for blessings and bounties received during the year. With optimism and hope pervading all sections and all classes, Thanksgiving day promises to be the most propitious and the happiest observed here in long years.

Some are happy in the possession of comfortable homes; some are happy because the installment collector won't come until next week; some are happy in limousines, while others smile in street cars. Some will pray; some will dance; some will sing; some will meditate on the scriptures; many will enjoy the theaters; many others will follow the path of the pigskin; some will imbibe strong waters and place wagers on the turn of dice, while others will engage in pious pageantry and worship, but—

All of 'em will eat.

Yes, eat, eat, eat—rich browned turkey, swimming in glorious gravy and garnished with red streams of cranberries. Dressing and stuffings will grace the flanks; and there will be yellow yams, sliced beef and pork, rich red baked ham, pickles and relishes, oyster patties, oyster stews, baked and broiled fish, browned bacon strips, chicken salad, pickled pigs' feet, soustrout and frankfurters.

SOUTH GEORGIA
METHODISTS VOTE
AGAINST MERGER

Unification of Southern and Northern Bodies Loses by Vote of 94 for and 217 Against.

Macon, Ga., November 25.—(AP)—The opponents of unification won two victories here today in the opening session of the South Georgia Methodist conference, one by a vote of nearly three to one and one by a very slim margin.

The victory was when votes of lay and clerical delegates on counting showed a total of 94 in favor of the present plan of uniting the two churches and 217 against.

The leaders of unification supporters in the conference immediately gained the floor in an effort to place the conference on record through a resolution as favoring union of the northern and southern churches under some other plan which would be more acceptable to them.

Dr. Bascom Anthony, presiding elder of the Savannah district, led this fight and held the floor for 30 minutes, while he pleaded with the conference not to go on record as maintaining an unfriendly attitude toward "our northern brethren." On motion of J. M. Rogers, lay delegate from Savannah, the resolution of Dr. Anthony was tabled by a vote of 146 to 131, lacking but eight votes of coming before the conference.

In ballots cast as the session drew to a close the ministers and laymen expressed their desires as to what shall represent the South Georgia conference in the general conference of the churches next year. These votes will not be counted until Thursday morning.

12 COMMUNISTS
GIVEN JAIL TERMS
BY BRITISH COURT

Sentences of Imprisonment Are Hardest Blow
Radical Party Has Yet
Experienced in England.

London, November 25.—(AP)—The trial of 12 communist leaders, which ended in Old Bailey today with sentences of imprisonment of 12 months for the five principal prisoners, against whom previous convictions had been proved, and six months for the seven others, against whom no previous convictions were recorded, is the greatest blow the communist party has yet experienced in this country.

The men, who were charged with conspiring to publish seditious libels and with violation of the incitement to mutiny act, will be classed in the "second division," which means simply deprivation of their liberty.

Strong efforts were made to give the case a political aspect, but the judge, who instructed the jury to consider the accused the benefit of the slightest doubt, refused to admit the idea of political persecution. He said if they were found guilty, it did not matter that they were prosecuted by a rival political party, animated by a desire that they should be convicted.

"The prisoners" counsel made a great play of alleging police espionage with political motives, but the judge defended the police, who he declared, had no other means for the discovery of secret sessions.

In view of the leniency with which a number of fascists, who had attacked a newspaper van belonging to the Daily Herald, the labor organ, were recently treated, the case is certain to cause great political commotion.

A joint meeting of the executives of the labor party and the trades union congress has been called for tomorrow in the house of commons to discuss the case.

Hartford, Conn., November 25.—Gerald Chapman won three more months of life late Wednesday when Governor Trumbull granted him a reprieve which extends until March 3 his sentence of execution.

The governor's announcement followed by a few hours the action of President Coolidge in commuting his sentence to the federal penitentiary at Atlanta. Chapman sentenced to hang December 3, refused the commutation.

The reprieve was granted to give the attorneys of the mail hand and murderer time to proceed with their legal attempts to save Chapman from hanging in Connecticut.

If the court should decide that the president has the power to shorten a federal prisoner's sentence without the consent of the prisoner, Chapman's last hope will be gone. It was said, and nothing but newly-discovered evidence sufficient to warrant a new trial could save him from the gallows.

Chapman, Fighting Hard.

Although the highest law-enforcing powers of the nation and state are determined that his sentence to die for the murder of a New Britain policeman shall be carried out in the near future, Chapman is fighting tooth and nail.

When Chapman was captured and convicted and sentenced for the murder, he was an escaped prisoner from Atlanta, where he had been sent for 25 years for his part in the famous $200,000 New York mail robbery. His attorneys obtained one stay of execution by an appeal to the Connecticut supreme court, which they look to for relief. So, for the present, the regulatory authorities, state and federal, and the general public will look with every hope to a successful handling of the matter by the carriers. Or, stated differently, it is correct to say that the carriers involved in this congestion are on trial. If they fail to "deliver the goods" then it seems to me federal supervision to the extent of issuing service orders will be inevitable.

"I was surprised to find that there are several hundred cars in Atlanta alone being held pending relief in this congestion with destination at various Florida points. Similar conditions can be named at various points throughout the country east of the Mississippi river, and as far north as the Ohio river. It therefore follows that it is not a local matter in Florida, or at the Florida gateways, but it is a matter of serious business concern to a large number of shippers in connection with the movement of freight, rather than have all of the congestion in the movement of freight, covering both the Central and Southern, could be eliminated, at least for the next 30 days. It would be a saving of approximately 1,300 train miles per day, and if this elimination of passenger service were to be diverted to freight service it would mean approximately the movement of 60,000 ton miles per day. It seems to me that the time has come when the carriers, in a spirit of cooperation, should avail themselves of every mile of track going into Florida, regardless of the financial interests of any road, until this congestion has been overcome."

COMMITTEE NAMED FOR FREIGHT PARLEY.

Jacksonville, Fla., November 25.—(AP)—Civilian machinery looking toward the alleviation, through cooperation with the rail carriers, of the Florida congested freight traffic situation, got under way today with the selection of 20 representative Florida business men who will compose the organization committee for the formation here, December 18, at a general state meeting, of the Florida division, southeastern regional advisory board.

These men, under the leadership of R. Hudson Burr, chairman of the Florida railroad commission, are to meet in initial session here December 5 for the formulation of plans to be proposed to the general session.

The appointment of this committee, as well as a railroad contact committee to be headed by R. W. Edwards, district manager of the car service division of the American Railway association, was announced today by M. J. Gornley, chairman of the car service division of the association, following executive sessions here today and yesterday with interested parties.

E. F. Bilo, of the association, has been named temporary assistant to Mr. Burr with headquarters in Jacksonville. Mr. Gornley, accompanied by Donald C. Conn, manager of the Presbyterian church, will leave for Washington.

In official circles there will be little activity. The state capitol, the city hall and other public buildings will be closed for the entire day. Federal building offices will be closed all day with the exception of the post office, which will remain open until noon. There will be two deliveries of mail in the business section and one delivery in the residential section.

Churches will observe the day with numerous special services. In Buckhead the Baptists, Methodists and Presbyterians will hold a community service at 10 o'clock Thursday morning.

'Ma Ferguson Gives Clemency To 105 for Thanksgiving

Austin, Texas, November 25.—(AP)—Governor Miriam A. Ferguson late today issued 105 clemency proclamations to Texas prison inmates, effective Thanksgiving day.

This is the largest number of such proclamations yet to be issued at one time by the governor. Since her inauguration, January 20, last, the governor has granted 1,126 prisoners clemency.

These 105 clemency proclamations, which the Texas prison population to 3,462.

Forty-eight full pardons, 49 conditional pardons, seven paroles and remission of one fine constitute the woman governor's Thanksgiving bounty to Texas convicts. Two of the full pardons and seven of the conditional pardons were granted women.

The proclamations show that 27 were convicted of murder, manslaughter and assault to murder and that most of the convicts have served the greater portion of their sentences.

Since she took office Governor Ferguson has issued 209 full pardons, 400 conditional pardons, 67 paroles, 181 restorations of citizenship, 188 furloughs and extensions of furloughs; remitted 22 bond forfeitures; remitted 22 jail sentences and fines; commuted seven death sentences to life sentences and granted two reprieves.

The 80 laymen also voted solidly against unification.

North Arkansas votes for merger. Conway, Ark., November 25.—(AP)—The North Arkansas conference of the Methodist Episcopal church, South, today gave unification with the Methodist Episcopal church three-fourths of one vote more than the required three-fourths majority in favor of unification. The vote was 162 for and 53 against unification.

"We do not believe our ministers need to go to Yale, Columbia, Princeton or other big eastern schools to be equipped for service," Bishop Hay said. "We don't need that rotten materialism. The church needs a few leaders who will lead us out of the old and into the new in the inspiration of God's word."

South Carolina conference meets. Darlington, S. C., November 25.—(AP)—With several questions of importance confronting it, the one hundred and fortieth annual session of the South Carolina conference of the Methodist Episcopal church, South, was formally opened here today with Bishop Collins Denny, of Richmond, presiding.

Chief among the matters of note that will be disposed of at this session is the question of unification with the Methodist Episcopal church, which it is expected will be voted on early in the session.

Another question in the forefront of the conference is the election of delegates to the quadrennial conference in May, and a third is the transfer of ministers who have completed their terms of service under the Methodist plan.

After the session had been called to order this morning at 9:30 o'clock, the conference was opened with the sacrament of the Lord's supper, administered by Bishop Denny, assisted by Rev. M. L. Lankford, Rev. R. H. Jones, Rev. G. P. Watson and Rev. J. W. Elkins. After roll call, Rev. W. D. Dible was re-elected secretary of the conference and Rev. W. W. Snyder and Rev. C. T. Easterling were elected assistants.

Waycross pastors attend conference. Waycross, Ga., November 25.—Presiding Elder N. H. Williams, of the Waycross district, three Waycross pastors and a delegation of laymen are attending the South Georgia conference of the Methodist church in Macon.

The pastors are Rev. E. F. Morgan, of the First Methodist church; Rev. J. B. Sampley, of the Trinity church; and Rev. E. H. Cowart, of the Ebenezer and Olivet Park churches. Rev. Morgan has served four years as pastor of the First Methodist church.

As to the degree to which the socialists would participate in the cabinet, Herriot believes that, between the present and the time when a capital levy might begin to produce revenue, further inflation would be necessary.

This view has angered the socialists and led them to postpone a definite reply regarding their participation in the cabinet until Thursday.

As to the degree of their participation, the socialists desire either a majority of the cabinet or the most important posts. Herriot fears he might weaken himself elsewhere if he gives the socialists as many offices as they demand.

Herriot was forced out of the premiership last winter by just such mounting inflation as destroyed Poincare, who succeeded him. Poincare went the same way before Herriot.

BANK AGAIN WINS PAR CLEARANCE

ly showing their inability to support his contention that the law and regulations took property from his client without compensation. When he had completed his argument, Chief Justice Taft, after a hasty conference with his associates, announced it would not be necessary for the Atlanta bank to present any argument in defense of the statute or the regulations. The effect of this announcement, under the practice of the court, will be to bring a dismissal of the appeal, thus giving full effect to the decision of the Georgia court.

Attempts by the Pasco bank's attorney to discuss the operation of the federal reserve system, particularly the relations which he thought should be maintained between it and reserve banks, were cut short by members of the court bringing the argument back each time to constitutional grounds with their questions.

Argument of Plaintiff. National banks, under the federal reserve system, he insisted, had not surrendered all their inherent rights, but retained a constitutional power to require compensation for services rendered and could not be compelled to bear all the expense of forwarding remittances to pay checks drawn upon them.

The principal purpose of the constitution, he said, was to enable the federal reserve system to build up reserves, he asserted, estimating that national banks throughout the country were deprived of about $125,000,000 a year, which otherwise would collect as exchange charges.

SUIT IS FIFTH AGAINST BANKS. The fifth of the so-called "par clearance suits," the suit brought by the Pasco National bank is the first in which the rights of member banks of the reserve system are sought to be enforced.

When the right to charge exchange was secured from non-members, the reserve bank would carry out its policy announced by W. P. G. Harding, who was then governor.

The Pasco National bank decided to bring this last case to have the law definitely decided, as over a year had elapsed since the supreme court showed the unrestricted right of non-member banks to charge exchange and pointed out that the member banks had similar rights with certain restrictions, and the reserve board had made no move to relieve member banks of their disabilities.

After being fought to the supreme court, the first suit brought by county banks of Georgia against the Atlanta Federal Reserve bank, and known as American Bank and Trust company of Cordele, et al., vs. Federal Reserve bank of Atlanta, et al., was decided in the high courts by the country banks on May 10, 1921. The country banks had sought to enjoin the Atlanta reserve bank from using the term "embarrassing, annoying and expensive" to plaintiff banks in order to force them to remit at par for checks sent them through the mails by the reserve bank, and specifically from using methods that had been used by reserve banks in other districts under similar circumstances and for the same purpose.

A second and final decision in this case, rendered by the supreme court on June 11, 1922, in Atlanta, the trial judge had given an injunction against the defendants only to the extent of requiring that they do not publish the names of banks on their lists without their consent. The plaintiffs, believing that the disclaimer should be embodied in the decrees, which sustained the view of the trial court that the disclaimer sufficiently protected the country banks in their rights.

The second case was that of the Farmers and Merchants banks of Monroe, N. C., et al., vs. Federal Reserve Bank of Richmond, in which a North Carolina state law was attacked by the reserve bank, a law which prohibited the reserve bank from interfering in the matter which the Federal Reserve Bank of Richmond sought to evade. The state law was upheld and judgment ordered for the North Carolina bankers by the supreme court.

Other two cases were those of the Brookings State bank of Oregon, filed against the Federal Reserve Bank of San Francisco, in which the state bank won a notable decision from the district court; and the Farmers and Merchants Bank of Catlettsburg, Ky., against the Federal Reserve Bank of Cleveland. The Catlettsburg bank secured a decision in its favor for a temporary injunction. The suit has never been tried on the question of permanent injunction, and may not ever be in view of the decisions of the supreme court.

looks of consternation to the faces of Leonard and his attorneys.

Lee Parsons Davis, attorney for Mrs. Rhinelander, who still was too upset to take the stand in her own defense, asked Chidester to tell of a conversation with the plaintiff in December, 1921, and the witness unhesitatingly declared that when Leonard had been advised that the girl he then was courting had colored blood in her veins, young Rhinelander had responded:

"I don't give a damn."

Just previous to Chidester's appearance on the stand, Davis had recalled Rhinelander, and had drawn from him the admission that it was Chidester who drove the youth and his swarthy sweetheart to the Hotel Marie Antoinette in New York on the occasion of their first indiscretion.

"There never was any feeling between you and Chidester, was there?" the lawyer asked.

"Not in the slightest."

"Where is Chidester now?"

"I haven't the slightest idea."

Like a master show-man, Davis then called Chidester, who had been waiting outside the courtroom, to the stand.

Rhinelanders' attorneys immediately attacked the witness with a vigorous cross-examination, seeking to show that he had approached Davis and volunteered his testimony, but the former chauffeur, said he had been discovered by the defense counsel Tuesday noon.

Jubilantly, Davis rubbed in his advantage.

"I'm a pretty wise guy, am I not?" he taunted ex-Judge Isaac N. Mills, senior counsel for the plaintiff. "If you'll come to me after court, I'll tell you how I did it. It was just pure luck."

The only thing Mills was able to draw from the witness was that Chidester had been disposed to assist Rhinelander, and had offered his services as a witness. He had written to Leon Jacobs, associate counsel for the plaintiff, and had received no reply.

Obviously nonplussed, Rhinelander's attorneys hurriedly completed their cross-examination, and court adjourned until Monday morning.

A surprise was occasioned when Justice Morschauer announced he had granted the motion of the plaintiff to amend the complaint against his wife. It now reads that she concealed from him the fact that she was of colored blood, instead of that she deceived him by declaring herself to be white.

Davis recalled Rhinelander to the stand and drew from him the admission that his wife told him she was not a negro.

"Do you know the complaint has been amended?" Rhinelander was asked.

"Yes," replied Leonard.

"You say your wife deceived you by saying nothing?"

"Yes."

"Was the deception by her saying she was white?"

Despite the vigorous protest of his attorneys, Rhinelander answered that this was so.

KEEP Southern prosperity substantial. THE whole country is talking about Southern prosperity. Many authorities on economic say this prosperity is substantial and will last. Some, however, usually those who have not been South, ask if such rapid development can be more than a temporary flash.

It can be permanent. The South has the resources and the matchless climate. Everything depends on how it develops—how it builds.

Permanent construction is of major importance. Without it money must be continually poured into repairs and replacements instead of being utilized for new and greater projects. The construction program of the South is tremendous, and the loss from shoddy work would be enormous. Only by insisting on the use of dependable materials and competent workmanship in everything can the South insure the substantial prosperity it so richly deserves.

Good construction is always cheapest in the long run, and often the lowest in first cost. The important point is, to insist on the employment of a good contractor, a responsible business man in whom you can place confidence. Then count on him to give permanent satisfaction through his use of dependable materials and competent workmanship.

From the great Lehigh mills, which are located at Birmingham, Ala. and at Fordwick, Va., the South is securing the most dependable cement that can be produced. Dependability has made Lehigh the most asked-for cement in the world with 19 mills from coast to coast.

DOOMED YOUTHS MAKE NEW PLEA

Motion for reconsideration of the appeal of Ted Coggeshall and Floyd McClelland, condemned to death for the slaying of Professor W. C. Wright, Putnam county school superintendent, was filed by attorneys for the two youths in the Georgia supreme court Wednesday.

The supreme court handed down a decision in this appeal last week, in which a new trial was refused.

In the new petition alleged specific errors in the charge to the jury by Judge James A. Park, who presided at the trial in Eatonton last May, are cited in that the judge did not charge the jury as to involuntary manslaughter and that he also failed to charge as to second degree murder with special reference to the guilt or innocence of persons present but not actually aiding or abetting in the commission of crime.

Coggeshall and McClelland were convicted largely on the evidence of Sam Scarborough, who turned state's evidence and was sentenced to life imprisonment for his part in the murder. Scarborough testified it was Coggeshall who struck the actual blows which resulted in the death of Professor Wright, but that it was McClelland who planned the attack and the theft of the car which the school superintendent was driving. Coggeshall and McClelland are now in the Bibb county jail awaiting resentencing.

Smoking by Girls Banned in Georgia Women's Colleges

Georgia college girls will not be permitted to smoke, under penalty of expulsion, despite action of authorities at Bryn Mawr, a leading eastern college for girls, in setting aside a smoking room in every dormitory, according to statements Wednesday by heads of leading women's educational institutions in the state.

These officials report, however, that Georgia girls are not inclined to follow in the footsteps of their eastern sisters, anyway, and that it is a rare event to catch a girl smoking in colleges of this state.

Among those who stated that the penalty for any girl caught smoking in institutions would be expulsion were Dr. W. D. Furry, president of Shorter college, at Rome; Dr. W. F. Quillian, president of Wesleyan college, Macon; Dr. J. R. McCain, president of Agnes Scott college, Decatur; Dr. Thornwall Jacobs, president of Oglethorpe university, Atlanta; Dr. Aquilla Chamlee, president of Bessie Tift college, Forsyth; and Miss Neil Heese, speaking for Dr. H. J. Pearce, president of Brenau college, Gainesville.

While stating that a girl smoker would be sent home, most of these educational leaders added, however, that the offense was so rare that they had not been called on to pass upon a case in quite a long time.

Because today is Thanksgiving day, a holiday, the weekly meeting of the City club will not be held. The club voted at its meeting November 12 not to meet this week.

LINCOLN SEDAN TO BE PURCHASED FOR MAYOR'S USE

The purchasing committee of city council Wednesday afternoon voted to purchase a Lincoln car, seven-passenger sedan, which is to be the official car for use by the mayor's office, and driven by a detective assigned by the council police committee.

An appropriation covering the price of the car was voted sometime ago by city council and was promptly vetoed by Mayor Sims, who declared he believed the mayor's office should have a car but that he felt it improper for him to give official approval. Council and the aldermanic board by overwhelming vote overrode the mayor's veto.

The car is to be delivered December 15, it was said by agents who appeared at the meeting.

PRISONER SEEKS FREEDOM AFTER
TERM IN TOWER
Melvin Brown, held at Fulton tower in connection with the murder on October 28, 1922, of J. H. Langston, rural mail carrier in Fayette county, Wednesday filed a habeas corpus suit in Fulton superior court, asking that he be released. Hearing was set for Saturday before Judge G. H. Howard.

Brown claims an alibi at the time of the killing, stating that he was at Opelika, Ala., when the crime was committed. He also declares that the three men already convicted of the crime never mentioned his name at the trials. He charges also that he has been held in jail here since August 2, and that no bill of indictment has been returned against him, although nine grand juries have met since he was held under suspicion.

ARTHUR L. BROOKE NEW HEAD OF FAIR

Arthur L. Brooke, prominent Atlanta business man and civic worker, was elected president of the South-eastern Fair association Wednesday in the annual election held in the Chamber of Commerce building. Mr. Brooke succeeds Colonel F. J. Paxon, who automatically becomes a vice president.

President of the Atlanta Chemical company, Mr. Brooke is also connected with T. H. Brooke and company, wholesale grain dealers, and is a past president of the Kiwanis club. During the past year he has served the fair association as a director.

Henry W. Davis was retained as treasurer for 1926 in the annual election, while several changes were made in the executive committee. With the addition of Colonel Paxon, there are five vice presidents, the other four being Mel R. Wilkinson, Ivan E. Allen, J. Oscar Mills and H. G. Hastings. R. M. Striplin is secretary of the association.

The executive committee is composed of the following: Ivan E. Allen, chairman; Philip E. Alston, Judge John S. Candler, Henry W. Davis, W. O. Foote, H. G. Hastings, V. H. Kriegshaber, E. P. McBurney, Paul Etheridge, Emmett L. Quinn, W. R. C. Smith, Mayor Walter A. Sims, George W. West, O. L. Jernigan, William Candler, John E. Smith and Lee Hagan.

H. W. Davis and R. M. Striplin were made ex-officio directors, while Frank H. Reynolds, C. L. Chosewood, C. D. Knight, Wiley L. Moore and W. E. Saunders.

The stockholders extended a vote of thanks to Mr. Paxon, retiring president.

The nominating committee was composed of Ivan E. Allen, H. G. Hastings, J. Oscar Mills, F. J. Paxon and Mel R. Wilkinson.

$60,000 DAMAGES SOUGHT IN SUITS FILED WEDNESDAY

Three suits aggregating $60,000 were filed Wednesday in Fulton superior court asking damages for alleged injuries.

Cecil Mathis, 17, asked $25,000 in each of two claims filed against Sheetroth Yisrael congregation and I. Melnick. The plaintiff alleges that he was working on the roof of the synagogue of the congregation at 302 East Hunter street on October 4, and when he placed a ladder against a chimney, the chimney collapsed causing bricks to fall on him and knock him from the ladder. He asks $25,000 from the congregation and a similar amount from I. Melnick, whom he blames directly for the alleged dilapidated condition of the chimney.

Josephine Emory seeks $10,000 damages of Mrs. Ida Melson, owner of a house at 100 Seiple Terrace. Petitioner claims she rented the house from the defendant and that the top step was not nailed, when the house was built. She stepped on it and it turned, throwing her to the ground and injuring her to such an extent that she is asking the courts to award her damages.

PIED PIPER SHOES BOOSTED BY KIDS IN UNIQUE PARADE

The Pied Piper of Hamelin, about whom every reading person in the English-speaking world has read, paid a visit to Atlanta Wednesday, or at least his counterpart did, and it was hard to believe that he wasn't playing the same trick the original piper did, for, with 500 children trailing at his heels, he staged a parade from Byck's shoe store on Whitehall street, around the block bounded by Whitehall, Alabama, Broad and Hunter streets.

Adopt every child's head was a red or yellow cap, presented by the piper. Each one had a horn, also a present, and carried a story book describing the adventure of those children of Hamelin, who were led from their homes by the magic pipe when their parents refused to pay the piper for luring the rats away.

The Pied Piper, whose real name was not made known, was brought to Atlanta by Byck's store in connection with advertising for Pied Piper shoes, described as health shoes for children. Assembling the children in the basement of the store the piper related to them the story of the piper who piped Hamelin town clear of rats and then took the children away. Advertisements of Pied Piper shoes brought at least 500 children to Byck's.

S. D. Tanner is manager of the store.

WOMAN ACCUSED OF 'RAISING' DOPE ORDER BY COURT

Mrs. C. A. Miller, charged with changing a doctor's prescription for seven grains of morphine to call for 17 grains Wednesday was given a preliminary hearing before United States Commissioner L. S. Ledbetter and was held to the federal grand jury under $500 bond.

Federal narcotic agents filed the complaint against the woman after an investigation of the "unusual prescription."

Negro Who Served Lee Pays Visit To Memorial

General Robert E. Lee came back to life Wednesday in the sight and memory of an 87-year-old negro, who looked upon the chiseled features of the Gray Captain and pledged anew his love.

In the shadow of Stone Mountain stood Rer, William Mack Lee, body servant and cook for the Confederate general during the war between the states. About the shoulders of the aged negro was the coat General Lee wore at Bull Run and upon his breast was a row of badges that would have put to shame a professional collector.

"Yonder's Mars Robert," the negro exclaimed, as he stepped from an automobile near the giant memorial. Pointing a hand toward the statuary image he lifted his hat and cried:

"God bless yo' soul, sir, here's yo' of nigger."

Lee, who has attended every Confederate reunion since the war, came here at the instance of white friends of his home town, Norfolk, Va.

The man who for four years "stole watermelons, chickens and blackberries for the finest man God ever made" came here alone. "I'll be dead in a year or two," he explained, "an' I wanted to see fer myself this wonderful thing the white folks has done for my master."

The custodian of the sculptor's studio showed the aged negro August Lukeman's models and he identified Jefferson Davis, Lee and Stonewall Jackson with endearing descriptions. Nothing would please him until a news photographer had "made a picture" of him holding the stirrup of Lee's horse, as he did in other days. "Does that look like General Lee, uncle?" he was asked.

"Does 'at look like Mars Robert? Sir, that's Mars Robert to a T. He has whiskers just lak mine now."

A party of newspaper men accompanied the old negro to Stone Mountain in an automobile placed at their disposal by E. L. Jett, chief of police. And in the book signed by each person who contributes to the memorial his name was written.

Since the war in which he admits he often "stole chickens often de roost for Mars Robert's intermitent meals," Mack Lee has turned preacher. Though bowed with the weight of 87 years, his hair white, and his step uncertain, Mack Lee is an inveterate wanderer. He has attended nearly all of the Confederate reunions since the veterans of that conflict began to assemble. On most of these occasions he has sat on the platform with "de white officers" and recounted to vast audiences the story how he provided for the wants of the southern leader. There is scarcely a Confederate veteran now living who does not know him.

PRISONERS LEAVE TO AID BUILDING OF VIRGINIA PEN

Thirty inmates of the Atlanta federal penitentiary left Wednesday for Alderson, W. Va., to assist in construction of the first women's federal institution ever built in the United States. The men left in a chartered railroad car, making the fourth consignment to go from the local prison, and raising the total sent to about 150 men.

Names of those detailed on this work were not made public on account of a rule of the department of justice prohibiting publication of such transfers.

COUNTY WILL RETAIN SCHOOL BUILDING SITE

Decision to retain the present school site at Adamsville on Gordon road and to erect a new school building there next year, if possible, featured the regular monthly meeting Wednesday of the Fulton county board of education. The session was held at Fulton county courthouse.

Owners of property adjacent to the site have agreed to deed to the county enough to make a four-acre tract for the school, and this met with the approval of the board. It was considered likely that the location of the school would be changed because the county did not have enough land for playgrounds and other purposes.

The contemplated building will be a four-room brick structure with an auditorium costing about $15,000. It is stated, and the board hopes to begin work on it next summer.

A delegation from the Howell Mill road, Cook militia district, which requested that a new school be constructed there next year was heard, but the board ruled that it would not have funds available for new work in that section next year.

Chairs for the cafeteria of the new Fulton county high school were authorized and the payroll for November was approved.

County School Superintendent Jere A. Wells announced that the R. L. Hope school on Piedmont road will be opened formally Monday night.

Better Than Whiskey For Colds and Flu

The sensation of the drug trade is Aspirinal, the two-minute cold and cough reliever, authoritatively guaranteed by the laboratories; tested, approved and most enthusiastically endorsed by the highest authorities, and proclaimed by the people as ten times as quick and effective as whiskey, rock and rye, or any other cold and cough remedy they have ever tried.

All drug stores are supplied with the wonderful elixir, so all you have to do is to step into the nearest drug store, hand the clerk half a dollar for a bottle of Aspirinal and tell him to serve you two teaspoonfuls. With your watch in y r hand, take the drink at one swallow and call for your money back in two minutes if you cannot feel the distressing symptoms of your cold fading away like a dream, within the time limit. Don't be healed, for all druggists invite you and expect you to try it. Everybody's doing it.

Take the remainder of the bottle home to your wife and children, for Aspirinal is by far the safest and most effective, the easiest to take and the most agreeable cold and cough remedy for children as well as adults. Quickest relief for catarrhal croup, children's choking up at night—

"many, many dentists today recommend Life Savers"

They're safe for tiny teeth

"This is the only kind of candy I like my own children to have," the dentist told the mother. "These little Life Saver mints are much better for little folks. Try the new Violet flavor. Children love them."

Every growing child craves sweets. Active little bodies demand sugar. But children's candy must be pure—and they should not overeat.

Life Savers, the little candy mints with the hole (life saver shape), answer this problem in just the right way. They are china-hard and deliciously flavored.

This means that Life Savers are eaten slowly. Children suck them to make those wonderful flavors last longer. Little tummies are not upset. And Life Savers are kind to tiny teeth. They're safe and wholesome. You may conscientiously be generous with Life Savers for they are the ideal candy for little folks.

Six flavors are displayed at all good stores so you may help yourself: Pep-o-mint, Wint-o-green, Cinnamon, Lic-o-ri, Cl-o-ve and Vi-o-let. Five cents a package.—Life Savers, Inc., Port Chester, N. Y.

HOLDER FROWNS ON EXTRA SESSION

John N. Holder, chairman of the state highway board, told Governor Clifford Walker Wednesday he could make no suggestion regarding the proposed extra session of the legislature, because he did not believe such a session should be held. Chairman Holder added, however, that whatever the governor's final decision might be, he would be glad to confer with him after the decision regarding the best program for road building for the state.

"Since I believe an extra session to be expensive, inexpedient, unwise, and that it would disturb business," said Mr. Holder, "I have no suggestions to make about an extraordinary call of the general assembly of the state."

Governor Walker made no announcement regarding the proposed call, though it has been generally understood for several weeks that he was planning to issue the call for convening about January 10. It also is understood that if he issues the call, the subjects specified for discussion will be settlement of the Confederate pension to the state, the proposed bill passed last summer providing for a great expansion in the state's road building program, and passage of a bond issue for the state educational system, including every variety of state-supported educational institution, from the grade schools up to the university.

Governor Walker has indicated that the recent series of successful bond elections for road building in various counties has made it necessary for the state to raise a much greater amount of road money than it does at present. If these county bond issues are to be matched by state funds within any reasonable length of time.

Life Term for Negress.

Columbus, Ga., November 25.—(Special.)—Rosa Mills, negress, was given a life sentence in the penitentiary for killing Annie Dixon, another negro, in superior court yesterday.

How Doctors Treat Colds and Flu

To break up a cold overnight or to cut short an attack of grippe, influenza, sore throat or tonsillitis, physicians and druggists are now recommending Calobats, the purified and refined calomel compound tablet that gives you the effects of calomel and salt combined, without the unpleasant effects of either.

One or two Calobats at bedtime with a swallow of water—no nausea, no pain, no nausea or the slightest interference with your eating, work or pleasure. Non-Partisan Tax Reduction Plans Please Coolidge

Washington, November 25.—(AP)—President Coolidge is gratified over the action of the house ways and means committee in drafting a tax reduction bill on a non-partisan basis.

General provisions of the measure, which would slash federal taxes by $290,000,000 annually, were outlined to the executive today by Chairman Green of the committee. While withholding comment on a measure yet to be presented to congress, the president did not conceal his pleasure over the committee's work.

Mr. Green informed the president that every opportunity for full debate and amendment would be afforded house members, but predicted the measure would be approved virtually as framed by the committee. An attempt to repeal the passenger automobile tax, he said, will provide the main fight. He was confident that the bill could be passed in the second week of the session.

Representative Rainey, of Illinois, a democratic member of the committee, who will present a minority report on the measure, assailed it in a statement issued today as giving "men of large incomes more than in their wildest dreams they expected." He also denounced the provision to increase the personal exemptions and the allowance for the "earned income" credit of 25 per cent, and urged the greatest reductions be given taxpayers with incomes between $25,000 and $70,000 a year.

OFFICERS' SCHOOL FOR 122ND INFANTRY WILL BE CONDUCTED

Decision to hold the second annual officers' school for 122nd infantry officers, Georgia national guard, featured the regular luncheon, meeting Wednesday at the Ansley hotel of officers of the local guard regiment. Colonel Charles H. Cox, regimental commander, announced that Colonel T. W. Darrah, of fourth corps division headquarters, again would have charge of the school which will begin December 8.

There will be two problems, or lessons, monthly, and a course of 10 lessons will be offered. Attendance is compulsory upon officers of the regiment, unless proper authority for absence is obtained from the regimental commander.

At the first meeting on December 8 Colonel Darrah will outline the schedule for the course and will announce the maps to be used and other matters regarding the course.

A general discussion of national guard problems followed Wednesday's luncheon, various officers taking up matters concerning their respective companies.

Mrs. Smathers, wife of Captain Day K. (Track) Smathers, of Columbus, was a special guest at the luncheon.

OCTAVUS ROY COHEN VISITS IN ATLANTA EN ROUTE TO ITALY

En route to Italy where he will obtain local color for stories with an Italian setting, Octavus Roy Cohen, Birmingham writer, whose negro stories have created national attention, passed through Atlanta Wednesday in company with Mrs. Cohen and her son, Octavus Roy, Jr.

The Cohens spent the day as the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Phil F. L'Engle, of Peachtree circle, and left Wednesday afternoon for Charleston, S. C., to catch a boat for New York, where they will be joined by Courtney Ryler Cooper, famous short story writer, who also is going on the trip.

Frank J. Sweeney, Local Tailor, Dies At Residence Here

Frank J. Sweeney, 65, died Wednesday at the residence at 86 Williams street. He was in the tailoring business in Atlanta for the past 20 years and is well known here.

He is survived by his widow; two brothers, Michael and Joseph Sweeney, of New York city, and two sisters, Mrs. Edward Taylor and Mrs. Michael McCaffery, of New York.

Funeral services will be held at 8 o'clock this morning from the Sacred Heart church. Rev. Father Horton will officiate. The body will be taken to Birmingham, Ala., for interment, with Greenberg and Bond in charge.

Prodigy To Appear At Business Club Luncheon Friday

Six-year-old Kenneth Crabbe, termed a "child prodigy" by members of civic clubs before whom he has appeared, will appear at a meeting Friday of the American Business club at the Henry Grady hotel.

Miss Mae Everett will entertain with musical selections and James Buckle is in charge of the program.

UNIVERSITY TO HEAR CHICAGO SPEAKERS

Athens, Ga., November 25.—(Special.)—Dr. Frank Thompson, president of the University of Wisconsin and former editor of the Century magazine, and Dr. W. O. Thompson, president of Ohio State college, will speak at the University of Georgia soon, it is announced by Chancellor Charles M. Snell.

Chancellor Snell, who has just returned from a state university convention in Chicago, was brought into personal contact with these men while there, and arranged for their visit to the University of Georgia while in Chicago.

NEWELL TO ASSIST CENSUS TABULATION

The bureau of census is making plans for the next biennial census of manufacturers, which will cover the year 1925, as provided in the act of congress approved March 3, 1919, was learned here Wednesday.

In deciding upon items to be covered by the census, the bureau has consulted with representatives of various manufacturers' associations with a view to securing, as far as practicable and without making the schedule too elaborate, information which will be of value to representatives of industries concerned, and at the same time furnish a record of the progress of manufacturers generally throughout the United States.

The industrial bureau of the Atlanta chamber of commerce will co-operate with the census bureau in collecting data of manufacturers in Atlanta and Fulton county. Frederick T. Newell, secretary, has been appointed special agent and will represent this bureau in Atlanta for this undertaking. The last biennial census taken as of December 1923, showed that the value of the products of manufacturing amounted to $122,284,202, and it is believed that the records of 1925 will exceed $150,000,000.

During the last year and the current year manufacturing industries in Atlanta have not only enlarged many of their plants, but these have been added to by new industries and factories built and now operated in Atlanta.

The blank forms upon which reports should be made will be mailed by the census bureau to all manufacturers about January 1, and reports will be required from each manufacturer whose gross products are valued at $5,000 or more for the year 1925.

Manufacturers are urged to have their reports made up and ready for mailing in such shape that he can fill out the schedule within a few days after receipt of the form. The tabulation of the city will not be made by the bureau of the census until reports are received from all manufacturers. Actual filing of these reports will begin about January 1, it is said.

Ford Will Enter Pinchot Confers With Operators On Coal Strike

Harrisburg, Pa., November 25.—(AP)—While John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers, was on his way here from Philadelphia today to confer with Governor Pinchot on the anthracite suspension, the governor received Major W. W. Juglis, head of the operators negotiating committee, in a half hour going over the situation with him.

Major Juglis said he called upon the governor at Mr. Pinchot's request to give him certain information the executive desired. Mr. Pinchot was uncommunicative.

The head of the operators' committee departed immediately after his meeting with the governor and only a short time before Mr. Lewis was due. Major Juglis at the time of his meeting with the governor, received word that a conference of mine union officials and district presidents was being held in Philadelphia today but he professed to see no significance in such a meeting. He expressed the opinion it was for much the same purpose as the meeting of the operators which he said need not, necessarily, have any important bearing on the present suspension.

COOLIDGE ASKED TO AID PROGRAM FOR WATERWAYS

Washington, November 25.—A program to plan and build waterways in the Missouri and Mississippi valley under cooperation with the states was presented to President Coolidge Wednesday by Walter S. Dickey, Kansas City, Mo., who discussed with the president the inland waterways feature of his message to congress.

Dickey suggested a means of extending the navigable streams connecting the chain of waterways to the Gulf.

He stressed the importance of this program because of the saving in freight rates to the farmers.

25 CARS OF COAL BOUGHT BY CITY FOR WATERWORKS

Contract for the purchase of 25 carsloads of coal for use at the city waterworks was awarded by the council purchasing committee Wednesday to the Ramsey Coal company.

The Randall company offered the lowest price of five bidders. The contract calls for a price of $1.00 per ton, the freight per ton to be $2.31.

PROBST SENTENCED IN FLORIDA CASE OF LAND FRAUD

Boston, November 25.—(AP)—Dr. Charles J. Probst, alleged president of the Florida Sales company, was sentenced to serve three and one-half years in the state prison for a conspiracy to defraud by the state supreme court today.

He had been adjudged guilty of larceny charges brought against him. Three additional charges of fraud in Florida real estate were brought against Dr. Probst today. He appealed and bail was set at $8,000 for his appearance in superior court.

Atlanta Thanksgiving Week

For the hardy devoutness of Mariabville and her handful of forebears who founded a city of home-loving people; for old-fashioned southern motherhood that so tenderly cradled the leaders of a morrow; for the trait of abiding faith and unconquerable soul handed down from generation to generation, let those who call themselves Atlantians give thanks.

For a city that has caught the inspiration of her builders and commemorated their sacrifices with churches, hospitals, schools, libraries, colleges, theaters—above all with homes where tomorrow's leaders are born—leaders we must have, and leaders we will have as never before, for Atlanta is training them, thank God.

Thank God for the great city that is ours today—the greater one to come, when every mother's son steps up to fill a vacant place, to carry out the dreams not quite come true; thank God that by their side her cheering daughters who once could only watch—now lend the dextrous hand to make Atlanta's greatness greater.

OLD HICKORY CASE WIPED OFF BOOKS PROMINENT MASONS ATTEND LUNCHEON

Washington, November 25.—(AP)—The Old Hickory case, the last of the war fraud charges brought here by the government, was wiped off the records of District Attorney Gordon.

Acting at the request of the defense, the district attorney entered nolle pro in the conspiracy indictment against David M. Davis, of New York, and Ernest C. Morse, of Cincinnati, growing out of the sale of the Old Hickory power plant at Jacksonville, Tenn.

Morse was formerly director of sales for the war department. Alexander Phillips, of New York, indicted with Davis and Morse, has died since the indictment was reported.

Defense counsel pointed out that a suit to set aside the verdict had resulted in upholding the contract. The plant cost the government $50,000,000. The sale price was $3,500,000.

The Old Hickory case was the first brought here and the last disposed of. All of the others resulted in verdicts for the accused.

Some of the most distinguished officials of the Grand Lodge of Masons in Georgia and some of the best-known former officials were guests of the Masonic club Wednesday at its weekly luncheon at the Peacock cafe, and enjoyed speeches delivered by Grand Master W. R. Richardson, of Atlanta; Past Grand Master George M. Napier, Atlanta; Past Grand Master Charles L. Bass and Governor Clifford Walker.

Grand Master Richardson outlined a program of activities he hopes to carry out during his administration including the completion of a Masonic hospital for tubercular patients at Alto, Ga., and for the addition of courses of trade studies to be installed in the Masonic home at Macon.

Others who appeared on the program and made short talks were Claude N. Hughes, president of the Masonic club; Raymond Daniel and George F. Eubanks.

Addressing the speakers were Past Grand Master James D. Hamrick, Dr. N. H. Ballard, Dr. Joe E. Bowdoin, William G. England, Charles L. Bass, George M. Napier, Deputy Grand Master A. G. Miller, William A. Sims, grand high priest, Royal Arch chapter; Clarence H. Anderson, grand master of the grand council; Charles A. Bowen, potentate of Ysaiah temple, Shriners; Forrest Adair, 34 degree Scottish rite; Raymond Daniel, junior grand warden, and W. G. McJannet, grand commander, Knights Templar.

After the principal speeches the past and present masters responded with two-minute talks. The musical program included cornet solos by Perry Bremer with Adolph Verdi at the piano, which were arranged by Enrico Leide, and a vocal solo by Mrs. Dwight Boyler, contralto, with Mrs. J. K. Martin at the piano.

COLONEL COOLIDGE SHOWS INTEREST IN BIG DINNER

Plymouth, Vt., November 25.—(AP)—Colonel John C. Coolidge, father of the president, who has been ill for some days from a recurrence of heart attacks, had so far recovered today as to evince considerable interest in the Thanksgiving dinner menu presented to him by the Aurora Pierce, who has been housekeeper at the Coolidge home here for 17 years.

Tomorrow's dinner, as planned, will follow the line of the former president's giving feast at the farm house. This is Mrs. Pierce's menu:

Chicken fricassee, stewed onions, cranberries, creamed corn, potatoes, rice pudding, apple and mince pie, milk.

Colonel Coolidge was up early today, returning to the routine which he followed before his recent illness. He told inquirers that he felt "as well as ever," and looked it.

A THREE DAYS' COUGH IS YOUR DANGER SIGNAL

Persistent coughs and colds lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for persistent coughs and colds, and other forms of lung trouble. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes, and stop the trouble at its source. The creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germ.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of persistent coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, whooping cough, other forms of respiratory diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist, Creomulsion Company, Atlanta, Ga.—(adv.)

LASH CONFERENCE DATE POSTPONED

Owing to the heavy docket of business—consisting mostly of hearings on parole and pardon petitions—before the Georgia prison commission for December, the proposed meeting of county officials to discuss uniform rules for disciplining unruly prisoners in camps through the state has been postponed, it was announced by the commission Wednesday.

The question of adopting uniform punishment regulations for all camps in the state will be taken up later, it was stated, possibly early in the new year, at which time a practical solution of the problem will be sought.

The question of convict punishment was recently brought to the fore when reports of the penitentiary committee of the house of representatives severely criticized methods of enforcing discipline in vogue in some of the camps. Contrivances for punishing unruly convicts are barbarous and reminiscent of the tortures of the inquisition, according to reports made by sub-committees of the penitentiary committee which have inspected different camps throughout the state.

Some suggestion has been made that the lash, which was abolished in Georgia during the administration of Governor Thomas W. Hardwick, should be restored, and it is said that some wardens favor this. It is not believed, however, that flogging will ever again be a recognized form of punishment in Georgia camps.

The conference which has now been indefinitely postponed was intended to bring together a group of the best wardens in the state with leading physicians and others, to devise a uniform set of regulations controlling punishment rules in all camps in Georgia.

BELOIT COLLEGE SEEKS TO TRACE ORIGIN OF MAN

Beloit, Wis., November 25.—(AP)—Beloit college will place five expeditions in the field at once to trace man's origin. Dr. C. L. Collie head of the college department of anthropology, announced. Work along this line is made possible by two annual gifts aggregating $15,000. Of the amount, Dr. Frank Logan, Chicago, furnishes $11,500 annually.

Dr. Collie believes that man originated in northern Africa, or near the Mediterranean sea and the expeditions will work largely in that area.

One expedition, known as the Logan Sahara expedition of Beloit college, already on the African continent. Another will be placed in Abyssinia.

One fifth of the annual fund will be used in the purchase of a large and rare collection of antiquities owned by a prince of Tebessa, Algeria. The price asked, 300,000 francs, is for one half of the collection.

INJURED OFFICER REPORTED BETTER

G. W. Richardson, motorcycle officer who was injured Tuesday afternoon in a crash between his car and an automobile, Wednesday afternoon, was resting comfortably, according to physicians.

Officer Richardson was pursuing a speeding motorist east on Fair street and collided with an automobile driven by W. C. Morrill, of East Point, when the latter turned to his left to enter Park avenue, in a southerly direction, police reports show.

STEALS CREAM FOR TEN YEARS TO BUY HOUSE

Kansas City, November 25.—Robert Barnhill, 40, a dairy employee, paid $75 for an $8,000 home and a $1,000 automobile.

Arrested on a charge of stealing cream, Barnhill admitted that for ten years he had stolen two gallons of cream daily from a local dairy, and with the money realized from the sale had purchased his home and car. Judge J. M. Kilroy fined him $75.

Thanksgiving

TURN back your imagination to the first Thanksgiving! In your mind's eye you will see a small group of Pilgrims (those sturdy ancestors of ours) reverently kneeling with bowed heads, giving spontaneous and sincere thanks for the bare preservations of life, for the escape from the treachery of an almost untrod sea, and probably for their first little harvest of food.

Meager blessings these, when measured in the terms of the plenty which we now enjoy, and yet this first Thanksgiving, like the breaking of the alabaster box of precious ointment, shall be told as a memorial of them as long as their descendants live.

WE celebrate the anniversary of that first Thanksgiving today, because later, when organization and government had begun to take shape this day was set aside to concentrate our minds in grateful contemplation of our ever-increasing blessings and prosperity.

Thanksgiving, as we celebrate it, is a day of festivity. No one can feast alone, since the joy of feasting comes in the joy of sharing. Thus Thanksgiving is a group, or community, celebration of friendship and fellowship, and of family reunions. Home fires are rekindled—home ties revived with new emphasis—friends gather around the board to enjoy the day. Congregations assemble in churches and other public places for befitting ceremonies.

TRULY this community life and this desire to share our blessings with one another is one of the basic factors in American life. In this community life retail stores play a large part. This store is interested in every phase of the community's welfare and is contributing in many ways to its progress. To some we supply necessities, to others luxuries, but in all we create new demands, so that the desire to provide for our families everything that will add to their comfort and happiness keeps burning the light of ambition and the determination to achieve greater possessions in exchange for rendering greater service.

We are deeply sensible of our obligation in trying to perform this service. We are grateful for the patronage that has been accorded us in the past and look forward to the greater possibility for service that is offered by the magnificent new store in which we hope to spend the next Thanksgiving. We pledge ourselves to redoubled efforts in the continued service of this, OUR community.

TECH MEETS AUBURN IN 26TH STRUGGLE TODAY

Tiger Squad in Atlanta But Is Idle Wednesday; Crowd of 20,000 Expected

BY GEORGE CONGDON.

The football season for Atlanta comes to a close with a crash at 2 o'clock this afternoon on Grant field and when the wreckage is cleared away something like an hour and a half or two hours later the crash should include Auburn. Tech should prove to be a wrecking crew against the Plainsmen, who reached Atlanta from Auburn yesterday, but— you never can tell. And that's all you can say about the dope on this Tech-Auburn game that entertains folks on Thanksgiving day this year as it has for the twenty-sixth time.

Something more than 20,000 people will see this 26th renewal of hostility between friendly enemies of Tech and Auburn. There were plenty of seats still to be had yesterday, indicating that the end pieces at Grant field will not be exactly crowded, although the stands running parallel with the field are well filled, if orders mean anything.

The Auburn squad arrived shortly before noon yesterday, but did not work out at all. Grant field had been reserved from 2 until 4 o'clock for the Tigers to get out for a final workout, but Coaches Morey and Pitts decided against this final practice and let that one Tuesday on the Plains be the final one.

The two teams today probably will lineup as follows:

TECH.	Pos.	AUBURN.
McKee	q.b.	Ollinger
Tharpe	l.t.	Self
Godwin	r.g.	McFadden
Pool	e.	McNeill
Forrester	r.g.	Salter
Carpenter	t.	Harkins
Marshall	t.	Spinks
Williams	q.b.	Bogue
Wycoff	h.b.	Williams
Baron	h.b.	Green
S. Murray	f.b.	Turner

The officials will be: Findlay (Virginia), referee. Moriarity (St. Mary's), umpire. Stegeman (Chicago), head linesman. Cheever (Georgia), field judge.

Every Southern State Boasts Grid Game Today

New Orleans, La., November 25.—With football games in every southern state tomorrow the season will be closed for most colleges and universities in the south. Only a few games will be left for decision Saturday. On 40 fields the players will have their last chance of the season to win the plaudits of their fellows and every indication points to superlative effort in the final games.

Leading in importance of games in which teams undefeated in the southern conference are engaged, three of the four outfits with clean records have a chance to run into black marks. Alabama plays Georgia at Birmingham, North Carolina and Virginia decide an age-old annual feud at Chapel Hill and Washington and Lee goes to Jacksonville to play the University of Florida. Tulane, the fourth leader, has finished its conference schedule and winds up its affairs of the season with a game against Centenary at Shreveport.

Alabama, supported by the prestige of a title earned last year, is expected to win from Georgia in a battle, with Washington and Lee given a slight edge over Florida. North Carolina and Virginia enter their game with little, if anything, to choose between them.

Georgia Tech should defeat Auburn, but the Tiger of the Plains is not to be taken lightly, as the Jungler rises to the heights against the Yellow Jackets.

Battle for Keg. Kentucky and Tennessee were to play with an added starter at stake, an ancient charred keg to become the property of the victor for a year. The game should be close.

Vanderbilt is expected to defeat Sewanee but the Commodores were made favorites last year and saw the Mountain Tigers triumph.

V. M. I. and V. P. I. seem even before the game and a tough struggle is expected. Clemson goes into the game with Furman as a long shot but Maryland and Johns Hopkins are hoped to put up their usual close contest.

"Ole Miss" is a favorite over Millsaps but no top-heavy score is predicted.

Tulane, after one of the most strenuous seasons for a southern team, is expected to have enough left to take Centenary into camp.

Two Birmingham teams are invading Florida. Howard playing Rollins at Winter Park, while Birmingham-Southern opposes Southern at Lakeland.

The only inter-sectional game of the day saw the south's colors carried into the west by the Bears meeting Marquette at Milwaukee. Although Oregon upset the duke by defeating Oglethorpe and Furman, Thursday's assignment is regarded as a bit heavy for the Georgians.

Oglethorpe goes to Chattanooga to play Chattanooga, a team that defeated Mercer, conquerors of Oglethorpe.

Louisiana Normal and Southwest Louisiana are booked to play Lafayette while Louisiana college plays Mississippi Teachers at Pineville and Louisiana Poly travels to Fort Benning to play the soldiers.

Davidson and Duke meet at Charlotte, Guilford and Lenoir-Rhyne are matched at Hickory and Wake Forest plays Elon.

William and Mary and Richmond meet at Richmond.

Georgetown of Kentucky plays Kentucky Wesleyan at Georgetown and the Kentucky Teachers and College of the Ozarks meet at Bowling Green.

Henderson-Brown and Ouachita are booked for Arkadelphia and Little Rock and Arkansas Poly play at Russellville. State Teachers College and Hendrix clash at Conway. The Tennessee Doctors and Loyola play at Memphis and Southwestern Presbyterian and West Tennessee Normal are scheduled for the same city.

Springhill and Union meet at Mobile and Maryville plays Concord at Maryville. King opposes Carson-Newman and at Bristol.

The Citadel clashes with the Presbyterian College of South Carolina at Charleston and Wofford and Newberry meet at Newberry.

U. S. B. BATTLES AGGIES HERE

Final preparations are being made for the Monroe A. and M. University football classic to be played next Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock on Grant field. A feature of this game will be the bringing together of the only two prep schools in the south that use exclusively the Georgia Tech jump shift, and also the meeting of two schools that are coached by former Tech captains. The Monroe Aggies are under the hand of "Red" Barron, Tech's all-southern halfback and captain of the 1922 squad of Yellow Jackets, while the Bluebirds are under the training of "Pup" Phillips, Tech's all-American center and captain of 1910. Both teams are rated as among the strongest of the G. I. A. A.

Last year the Bluebirds were defeated by the Aggies, 3 to 0, and this year they are not only out for revenge, but to keep their record clean for the post-season game of the G. I. A. A. Coach Alexander will announce Monday the two strongest G. I. A. A. teams that will enter the post-season affair, and if the Bluebirds are winners in Saturday's fracas, their chances are considered good. The Bluebirds team has played an entire G. I. A. A. schedule and the entire schedule of each school is to be taken into consideration in deciding the two best teams for the post-season affair. The Bluebirds have only lost one game.

Coach Barron and his team will come up Saturday morning, accompanied by the student body and a large number of supporters and is bringing with him the following men: Jones, Ritchie, Barron, Alexander, Curry, Slaton, Myers, McKee, Blessett, Martin, Lowe, Ward, Scott, Freeman, Ferguson, Sikes, Elliott, Cunningham, Hollis, Duggan, Johnston and Humphries.

Captain Speer, Dickie Butler, James Ham, Maxwell Davenport, Allie Wilder and Amos Martin will play their last game for the Bluebirds Saturday.

Petrels Make Last Bid For Championship Today

The Stormy Petrels made their departure yesterday afternoon at 4:10 o'clock for Chattanooga, where they will meet the University of Chattanooga in their annual clash.

Yesterday afternoon from 1 until 2:30 o'clock the Petrels were pushed through a snappy practice prior to boarding the train for Chattanooga. Both the first and second teams were kept busy running signals, except for a few minutes when Coach Robertson ordered his punters, Campbell and Walsh, to kick a few times to the halfbacks, who were kept busy catching them, while the line ran down under the punts.

The game will be an important one in the S. I. A. A. conference, as it will probably decide the superiority of the Petrel eleven over its brother members. Should Oglethorpe win the game, there will be no question as to its wearing the crown again. Percentage, if nothing else, will place them ahead of the other teams. If Chattanooga should win, then everything will be in a muddle and no particular team could claim it over the others.

For the first time in the last three years Chattanooga is the favorite. Oglethorpe, the favorite, has won all three games, but by close scores. This year with the hope against them, the Petrels are of the opinion that they can lick the Moccasins and, as a consequence, Coach Robertson has primed his charges for the battle. The injuries of Justice and Carroll are not any better, as both are sprains and only time heals such hurts. However, they may play a part of the game. It is expected that Chestnut, an end, who has been showing great form of late, will play the end left vacant by Carroll. Moseley or Guthrie probably will be used at guard in place of Justice.

The following men made the trip to Chattanooga: Carroll, Nix, Goldsmith, Corliss, Justice, Hardin, Cousins, Maurer, Campbell, Kilgore, Garlington, Guthrie, Hutson, Chestnut, Moseley, White, Smith, Sheppard, Walsh, Redfern, Hancock and Percan.

PENN, CORNELL IN EASTERN FEATURE

New York, November 25.—Eastern football fans will digest their turkey Thursday afternoon while watching some of the best gridiron contests of the 1925 season.

Penn and Cornell, ancient rivals on this national holiday, meet at Philadelphia in a game that should be productive of real thrills, despite the fact that the Red and Blue has made a more impressive showing this fall than have Gil Dobbie's athletes from Ithaca. Experts will watch with interest the final performance of Al Kreuz, the bald-headed rock-crusher of the U. of P., while Cornell will strive to keep up the current series of upsets by turning the tables upon Lou Young's eleven.

At the Polo Grounds, in New York, Columbia will strive desperately to top off an in-and-out season by victory over Syracuse. On paper, which, it has been demonstrated conclusively, means nothing this year, the Orange outranks the Lions. But after Columbia's surprising victory over the Army, almost anything may happen.

The third outstanding Thanksgiving day game of the east is that between Brown and the undefeated Colgate team. Captain Tryon of Colgate will appear in his last intercollegiate football game. He is but five paces behind Lane, of Dartmouth, in the race for scoring honors of the east, and should account for a couple of touchdowns against the Brunonians, if the game follows form.

Brown, with a new stadium, has played hosts this fall to Dartmouth, Harvard and Yale, but aside from Jess Hawley's Big Green team, has met no sterner opponent than Colgate. The New Yorkers have been tied but not beaten, and are 8 to 5 favorites for the Thanksgiving day game.

BULLDOGS BATTLE TIDE IN CHAMPIONSHIP TILT

Alabama May Present Changed Lineup in Effort To Cop Second Crown

BY HOWARD E. PILL.

Birmingham, Ala., November 25.—(Special.)—The University of Alabama Crimson Tide and the University of Georgia Bulldogs, polished and primed, will write the final chapter of Birmingham's 1925 football serial in their annual clash at Rickwood field Thursday afternoon. Both outfits docked in the Magic City Wednesday night, and their heels came their respective followers. The contest is scheduled to start at 2 p. m.

The largest gathering that has invaded the local lot this fall will watch the two colorful machines wage their yearly grid war Thursday afternoon. Reserved seats, 10,000 of them, gave out almost a week ago and the 7,000 unreserved seats that were thrown on the market Wednesday morning were being snapped up just as fast as the fans could skip by the ticket sellers. Upwards of 17,000 are expected to view the battle.

The Crimson Tide will have a second consecutive conference title at stake in the holiday battle, entering the big undefeated in the conference two years and boasting a spotless conference goal stripe thus far this season. Seven veterans of the championship machine will play in their football final—Captain Jones, Hubert, Mack Brown, Camp, Buckner, Willis and Hudson making up the list of regulars who will grace their last on Rickwood soil.

Bulldogs Confident.
The Bulldogs from Athens are confident they can stem the flow of the mighty red wave and in fact a flow of wreathes in the well-oiled and sleekly polished mechanism of Crimson Tide. While, figuratively, it is a monkey wrench the Bulldog intends to throw—in reality it will be the forward pass that the Athenians mean to chuck. The Georgia lads are expected to use the air much and often, supplementing this attack with their ten or twelve speed boys in an attempt to run the Crimson ragged and down.

The Georgia party hit town just before noon Wednesday and lost little time journeying out to the Kosbeek club where they danced through a brisk warm-up on the rolling golf links on the eastern rim of the city. Coach Woodruff brought over some 37 players and if past contests are any indicator, a large percentage of the invading force will see action against the Tide.

The Alabama squad—following out the usual custom—skipped through a brief workout on their own Denny

They Should Star Today When Georgia Meets Alabama

THOMPSON

HUBERT

These three brilliant football players probably will star today in Birmingham as Georgia meets Alabama in the annual Thanksgiving day game. Thompson is captain of Georgia, while Jones is captain of Alabama. Hubert, Alabama fullback, should show his line-plunging stuff today against the Bulldogs.

Grange Wrote Melodrama Of Touchdowns for Illini

Following is the fourteenth article of a series that tells the story of the life of Captain Red Grange, of Illinois, acclaimed as the greatest gridiron runner in the world. It is written from interviews with Grange by James Braden, and is Grange's life story.

BY JAMES BRADEN.

Former Yale and All-American Fullback.

"This is my real story. I have authorized it for publication."—Harold Grange.

(Copyright, 1925, by North American Newspaper Alliance.)

XIV. MELODRAMA OF TOUCHDOWNS.
In the annals of 50 years of collegiate football there have been players great in different departments of the game. Red Grange is the great touchdown maker. He has no rivals in this feature of the game.

It is the part of the game that is most important. All teams, all defenses, strive for touchdowns. All defenses struggle with one thought in mind—to prevent a touchdown. Red's high school runs were made against teams which were nearly the equal of his eleven. His college scoring was made against the cream of the west—the equal of any team he had broken around his own right end again for 43 yards and a score.

Zupke relieved his star after this run and as he walked to the bench the game had to be stopped momentarily as 70,000 enthusiasts gave him an ovation that lasted several minutes. He was the king of football!

Nebraska Held Him.
Grange's 1924 season was almost melodramatic. He started with Nebraska holding him to no touchdowns runs. He passed to Kassel for the marker that beat the Cornhuskers. In the second game, against Iowa, there was a muddy field and rain made everything slippery. Red did not play until the second half and got away in the fourth quarter and a touchdown. In the fourth quarter he slipped through for 35 yards and a marker.

Then came the most stunning and amazing football game that probably has ever been played. Michigan had shared honors with Illinois the previous year for conference supremacy. The 1924 Wolverine team was a great aggregation containing many stars and many veterans.

It was a hot day for a football game. Grange, talking of the contest, said recently: "Zupke sent us out to play bareheaded. It was too hot for stockings. We hopped through signals with lots of pep. Michigan seemed surprised to see us without stockings and the players gathered in little knots and watched us and discussed us. They appeared a little sluggish in running through signals."

Saw an Opening.
"We lined up to receive the kickoff. It came to me and I started up the field, cutting toward the left sideline. Michigan came down the field slowly. The players were lousy. I saw a good opening to my right when near the sideline and made a break for it. Most of the Michigan players seemed to be on the ground and, although surprised, I kept on running. I went then past midfield and only Rockwell stood between me and the line. I dodged him and went over near the left side of the goal post. You could have knocked me over with a feather. I was so surprised. Everybody seemed to be of the goal post. One of those breaks of the game."

A few minutes later, after an exchange of punts, Red broke loose around his own right end, cutting back, twisted and dodged 70 yards

DUVALL GETS FIELD FOR GAME

As the final answer as to whether or not Boys' High and Duvall High would engage in their annual Turkey day game, a large squad of Boys' High players left the Terminal station Wednesday morning headed for Jacksonville and a game with Duvall, to be played this morning.

There had been some trouble about Duvall securing a field to play on, as Florida and Washington and Lee play their annual game at Jacksonville on Thanksgiving. On Monday Duvall officials wired Boys' High that the game would have to be postponed, and requested that it be played Saturday. Boys' High did not wish to do this as it would push them too much for the annual Tech High encounter.

Accordingly the athletic committee at Boys' High wired back asking that the game be played Friday and Duvall replied that they would not be able to get the crowd on Friday, but that they would on Thanksgiving or Saturday. Boys' High then wired that unless a suitable date could be arranged the game would not be played. A game was then arranged for this morning and the Hurricane arrived at Jacksonville last night.

Having held Columbus to a close score last Friday, Coach Duvall has put his squad through a hard workout this week, and announced that the players were in good condition. Boys' High is hoped to lose the game, but will put up a hard fight, as they have done in every game this season.

AUBURN MEN HOLD PEP MEET

Atlanta student and visiting alumni of Auburn gathered last night at the Biltmore hotel for their annual pep meeting. Nearly 100 members of the alumni association were present at the meeting at which President F. R. Yarbrough presided.

Attending the meeting and dinner were Coaches Dave Morey, Boozie Pitts and Red Brown, of Auburn. Two prominent Atlanta alumni, Lee Ashcraft and Tick Tichenor, were the principal speakers, although later in the evening the meeting turned into a pep affair with every Auburn man speaking on behalf of the school.

The meeting is held annually the night before the Tech-Auburn game. One of the features of the meeting was a talk by Dick Dorsett, '92, who played on the first football team Auburn ever put on the field and the scorer of Auburn's first touchdown.

BEN FRIEDMAN OFFERED PRO JOB

Ann Arbor, Mich., November 25.—(AP.)—Ben Friedman, captain-elect of the 1925 Michigan football team, has turned over to Coach Fielding H. Yost, the telegram of Joseph W. Doherty offering Friedman a chance to play professional football.

"I think the 'old man' can answer it more pointedly than I can," Friedman said. "It is all foolishness, anyway."

Doherty's telegram asked Friedman if he would play in a game Christmas day in Florida against a team captained by "Red" Grange. "If so, wire terms," the message said.

Later Friedman, at Yost's suggestion, sent Doherty a telegram, stating simply, "I am not interested."

"COWBOY" KUTSCH DECLINES OFFER.
Iowa City, Ia., November 25.—(AP.)—"Cowboy" Kutsch, star Iowa halfback, in a telegram from Lincoln, Neb., today asserted that he would not consider entering the ranks of professional football. Kutsch, who is returning from the Iowa-California game Saturday, said he had not received an offer from an eastern promoter to play against "Red" Grange in a Christmas game at Coral Gables, Fla.

Sons Play Same Places As Their Dads in '97
Chips off the old block is the only way to describe two Princeton graduates. Frank Lee, the Tigers' first string end, is the son of Langdon Lee, who was a wingman on the 1896 team. Jeff Rosenbarten, like his father, is a tackle and a good one. His father was a lineman on the 1897 team. This is said to be the first case in Princeton history of two athletes playing on the same team in the same positions that their fathers played before them.

14 GRID STARS WILL SING TECH LOSES SIX; EIGHT TIGERS LEAVE

When Tech and Auburn line up this afternoon for the initial kickoff, an ensemble of 14 varsity players of the two teams will have cleared their throats in preparation for an inevitable and sad refrain—their swan song.

Tech loses six regulars, while Auburn will go the Jackets two better and say goodbye to eight. The span of years allotted these boys to bask in the glory of college football expires today. Their note is due.

The Yellow Jackets lose Captain Wyoff and Williams from the backfield, and Alternate-captain Goldwin, Carpenter, Merkle and Forrester from the line.

The Tigers who fade out with today's game are Ollinger and Spinks, Carpenter, Merkle and Forrester from the line, and Williams, Green and Crane, halfbacks.

The Little Rock star also wielded a mean bat on the baseball team while holding down first base two years, and played center on the basketball team last year. His letter in track was made by leaving the shot.

President of Class.
He is president of the senior class and holds countless other honors on the campus. They called him Prince during his high school days at Little Rock, a name that also describes his standing at Tech.

His running mate from Little Rock also bids Grant field adieu this afternoon. Like Williams has played the backfield with Doug during the past three years, in addition to the work both put in on the freshman team.

During the earlier stages of his career at Tech he played with his neck in a brace in account of what was termed a broken vertebrae. His time on the varsity squad has been divided between halfback and quarterback. He is a deadly tackler and his efficient work has contributed the three points necessary to win more than one game.

When Alternate-Captain Walter Goldwin first made the varsity squad four years ago he was placed in the backfield, but was later shifted to guard, where his work won for him a berth on the all-Southern selection last year. He has been one of the mainstays of Bill Fincher's line all season.

Three-Year Men.
Wallace Forrester is completing his third year on the varsity squad. The first year he tried for an end position, but like Goldwin, was shifted to guard where he showed up better. He prepped with Godwin at Gordon Institute.

Gus Merkle will carry three varsity letters in football with him. He was moved from tackle after his first year and placed on end, on account of his speed and reliable work in cutting down interference.

"Six" Carpenter, younger brother of the famous "Big Six" Carpenter, of Golden Tornado fame, is the sixth member of the varsity squad to be graduated today. He will play part of the game today, even though injured, and then will pass on with the others.

WALKER WINS NEWSPAPER VERDICT

Newark, N. J., November 25.—Mickey Walker, of Elizabeth, N. J., and Sailor Friedman, of Chicago, boxed 12 rounds at the Newark armory on Wednesday in a bout that was scheduled as "for the welterweight championship of the world."

It was hard to see how the promoters figured out this advertisement, for the title which the jaunty Jersey man has held for many months now, was not once in danger at anytime during the fight.

The sailor who recently has turned over a new leaf, and put himself under the care of "Doc" Hoff, fought the best he knew how, but he never succeeded in worrying the champion.

Walker won the unofficial decision without dispute. In New Jersey, the referee is not permitted to tell who wins a fight, but in this instance there was no necessity for any official announcement.

One encouraging feature was that Mickey Walker showed himself a real fighting title-holder. He was always willing to mix things with the sailor and completely took the play away from the challenger during the early rounds. The first seven sessions all went in Mickey's favor. The eighth and ninth were even. Walker won the tenth, the eleventh was even and the twelfth and last round went to the champion by a shade.

There were times during the bout when the crowd which had paid admission felt called upon to hop and stamp its feet in displeasure. After each of these manifestations, however, Walker obliged by opening up a savage attack upon Friedman which usually ended with the challenger back against the ropes. Neither man showed any distress during the 12 rounds and both were unmarked when the final bell clanged.

Probably Friedman will now be matched with the titleholder for a decision fight in New York. On a showing tonight, the Chicagoan would be entitled to such a return contest over a long distance, but it is doubtful if a fifteen-round bout between this pair would be productive of any different result.

FAN LOSES EYE; THEN LOSSES LEGAL BATTLE

A jury in Bronx supreme court returned a verdict in favor of the New York American League club, defendant in a suit for $25,000 damages brought by a fan, George Martin, who charged that he was injured by a batted ball while attending a game at the Yankee stadium. He said that the blow caused him to lose the sight of one eye. The judge told the jury that no precedent existed in which a spectator might collect for an injury suffered from a batted ball at a baseball game. The case dated to May 20, 1922.

'Phantom of Grid' Runs Today as Money Jingles

Chicago, November 25.—(AP.)—Harold "Red" Grange, "phantom of the gridiron," will plunge into the fortunes of professional football tomorrow, playing with the Chicago Bears against the Cardinals, with indications that the Chicago National league baseball park will be jammed with 45,000 or 50,000 fans.

If the crowd exceeds 45,000, it will be the biggest that ever stormed the home of the Cubs. The situation reached such proportions today that President Veeck, of the Cubs, asked that police establish a dead line around the park, admitting only those holding tickets. There will be a few hundred standing room spaces sold at the park tomorrow morning, but after these are disposed of, President Veeck figures that it will require the police to keep the overflow in order.

Sixteen thousand standing room tickets were snapped up today as fast as ticket sellers could hand them out. More than 31,000 reserved seats have been sold.

The University of Illinois plans to drape Grange's famous "77" faded blue jersey inside a glass case in the Illini hall of fame, but Grange, like a superstitious ballplayer, is determined to go into action tomorrow with another No. 77 on his back.

Grange is set for a battle. He has practiced with his team and most of the time has been devoted to developing interferences for him. With seven former Illinois football stars members of the team, Grange figures he will get the interference needed. They understand his style of running and his sensational stunts which thrill the spectators. Everybody, it seems, wants to see Grange in action, but will not because the park is not large enough to hold them.

The Wheaton ice man will earn from $20,000 to $30,000 tomorrow, depending upon the size of the crowd, as his contract provides for a liberal slice of the gate receipts.

He will get another chunk Sunday, as he will appear in the Cubs' park with the Bears meeting the Columbus, Ohio, Tigers.

The field, like a typical college gridiron, has been covered with a protection of hay and the only thing missing will be the cheer leaders.

CADETS BATTLE RICHMOND TEAM
Gainesville, Ga., November 25.—(Special.)—Undeclared in the G. I. A. A. and hoping for a place in the play-off for the football championship of that association, the Riverside Cadets Thursday at Augusta will end their 1925 football campaign in a game with the Richmond Academy eleven.

Colonel Sandy Beaver's team has experienced one of the most successful seasons in recent years. The Cadets bowled over the strong Georgia Military college team, 25 to 0, and then continued its drive by bumping off University School and Tech High, of Atlanta, and winding up its G. I. A. A. campaign with a smashing triumph over "Red" Barron's Monroe Aggies.

Riddle has been one of the leading stars for Riverside this season. He has starred in practically every game in which he has played. Riverside's success has been due more to brilliant teamwork than individual playing.

"I didn't think the newspapers would announce me," John said, shyly. "I wanted to surprise her. I had not told her when I was coming."

They moved in among the spectators slowly, Yvonne remaining close to his side. Brandon edged in between Kenilworth and Michael, and almost without a word, communicated to both of them that "he" was behind them. Kenilworth did not turn around. Prince Michael swung around quickly and gave the man who stood with Yvonne a deliberate scrutiny. Apparently he was satisfied with his observation, for he coolly turned his back and continued his fictitious play with Joanna's money.

Twice Joanna played "en plein" or the sweep of the colors and columns. She had won that sensational play three times. Now she lost each time, emptying her bag of its hoarded gold and notes. Any experienced player would have switched, as she knew, to the simple colors, with the next play, until "luck" changed. But a sudden stubbornness overwhelmed her. "En plein" she called again, and swept her 45,000 francs—$5,000—onto the table. Agnès lost.

Whispering in the crowd behind her, Agnès cried: "To see her next play, 'En plein'!" she called, and tossed another $5,000 onto the green cloth. The crowd of watchers at the table gasped. Deathly silence fell. Even Yvonne, who had been chatting feverishly with John, was silent. Kenilworth started to murmur a caution but Joanna threw up her hand jerkily and wilfully. If ever "en plein" wins immediately after losing it becomes one of the legends of Monte Carlo. It turns up one out of 400 plays, according to the average struck after many years. Again the croupier raked in the stake and called for the next play, "Faites vos jeux, Mademoiselle!" Make your game, mademoiselle.

Her bag was empty. She signed over her shoulder to Michael for her money from his pockets. Again $5,000, and again! The watchful chef de partie went away. At last, with a shrug of her shoulders the Golden Girl leaned back in her chair. She smiled up to the croupier:

"Merci, M'sieur," she said, "that is all. I have no more."

The croupier, as there was no one else playing, permitted himself the rare pleasure of an exchange with Mademoiselle Joanna:

"I am desolate that Mademoiselle should have been so unlucky!" She shook her head, still leaning back in her chair, and smiling at him queerly.

"Merci, M'sieur," she said, "but I am not unhappy. Unlucky at play, you know, lucky at love. I want to be very lucky today, M'sieur—at love!"

She got up, then, and looked up at Kenilworth and Michael, who were standing transfixed by the suddenness of the piling up of her tremendous losses. She put a hand on the sleeves of both of them and shared between them that persistent, quizzical smile. She was about to chaff them when her eyes found Yvonne and the man behind her. Both Kenilworth and Prince Michael felt, and took a different lesson; from the sudden gripping of the fingers that had rested so fairly-like upon their arms.

John's Success. John, changed much, despite his dislike of being expected to be different, put Joanna's hands together and wrapped his own about them. Quite a few of the men who had been spectators to the Golden Girl's reckless play, and had marveled anew at the abandon with which she tossed fortunes into the discard when she pitied her stubborn will against the implacable rules of chance, gave John a deeply speculative glance. Among the crowd about the roulette table there had been many women, smart women from Rome, and Madrid, and Paris, with a sprinkling of Americans who were distinguished by their shy wonder at the boldness with which the others flaunted their banners of sex. Some of these watched the girl who greeted the stranger so intently that their own stares seemed to transfix them. Yet she was merely silent, only very still; the quizzical smile the croupier had seen played again about the curve of her lips. The brown of her eyes was browner, more golden than usual. What the women saw was the wilful, spendthrift, always startling young American whose whims and flirtations had aroused the Riviera, yielding, melting, away to a young man who had neither the grace nor place of any one of that bright company of worshippers which habitually fluttered about her. The man spoke, at last:

"It's good to see you again, Jo!" he said. The brown in the girl's eyes went a shade darker. It was an almost imperceptible change. It could be, though, a forerunner of shadows that could make those eyes almost black at times. She withdrew her hands gently. It was as if she had been holding something that she had suddenly discovered, wasn't there at all. "I'm glad you found time to come down," she said quietly.

"I intended to surprise you," he explained. "I was going to drop in and have you open a door and come into a room, or something like that, not expecting me, and then, I'd planned to say, 'Hello! You've got your good looks on, haven't you, Jo?' or something like that."

He didn't think they'd announce him and spoil it. The haunting shadow remained beneath her lids. She made no reply, but turned to bring up Prince Michael for the introductions. Yvonne, who stood with Kenilworth, saw that John's glance repeatedly swept the room, the litter at the roulette table reminiscent of the recent scene, to return and rest on Joanna. And she saw, too, that Joanna, watching John furtively, was conscious of his inspections of the gambling rooms, the gambling company, and of her.

On the terrace, free from the ceaseless confusion in the gambling rooms, the party stood for a few moments, by a common consent, against the white balustrade. Michael and Kenilworth plunged into their polite appreciation of the world wide attention the young architect had drawn to his plan for a unique and stupendous monument to men who went to war. Michael referred to "the late war." John laughed instantly upon a correction of that understanding.

"Not alone the men who went to fight in the late war," he said, "but in all wars—those ahead of us as well as those behind us. They all were stirred by the same exaltation, you know, and always will be. Your ancient crusader fought for a religion but it was a woman, a girl, or one who was still a girl in his fancies, who gave him the courage to go, and sent with 'him the memories that cheered him. My structure is to commemorate the women who have made every soldier think he is not only a unit in a regiment but a knight with his lady's handkerchief waving from his helmet."

The two women, who had drawn together while the men questioned John, became restive after awhile. Joanna declared: "But we are not to stand here talking about soldiers and wars and things made out of stone. Mr. Wilmore will dine at Amette, I know. You, too, Roddy, if you will. I know Prince Michael has some glamorous engagement of his own for tonight."

Prince Michael bowed elaborately, and acknowledged that he was dining at a tete. "Although it should be with some one else," he added, favoring Joanna with a meaning glance that was a reminder of the dash to the frontier the night before. Kenilworth would have accepted promptly the welcome to Amette but Yvonne interferred.

"You can take me to the Metropole for dinner," she said to Roddy. "You will not have to change if the balcony will satisfy you, and it will me. I shall run out to Amette later to dress."

Joanna thanked her with her eyes. Kenilworth was inclined to be stubborn, but Yvonne managed the situation. Presently Joanna and John were speeding out the sea road, in her luxurious foreign car, toward Villa Amette. The lights of the early evening were twinkling in the bay, and the perfumes of orange and lemon and geranium were ushering in the mellow Riviera night.

Between the two people in the car there was some subtle barrier. It had come with the shadow back in the salle de roulette. John was stiff; Joanna thoughtful. "You haven't congratulated me," he said, at last. She regarded him gravely from her corner of the wide cushioned seat.

"The wonder of it is overwhelming," she said. "My throat was crammed with the things I was going to say to you when we were alone. They've gone out of it. It has made me very happy, though, when I have read the splendid things people say of you. You are going to be a success, after all, aren't you? All your dreams are coming true."

He waited a while before he answered. "Not all of them, Jo. And there's been a nightmare among them, you know. It's never gone away."

"You mean me?" The challenge was so sudden, so relentless, that he started.

"But we mustn't go into that, now," he objected. "We've both turned out differently than either of us expected. Let's just accept each other as we are, and be content."

"Oh, but we are not going to do that at all, John!" she exclaimed, suddenly gay. "We're not accepting each other. You're much too great and too serious and preoccupied for me. I'm much too frivolous for you. You've told me all of that before, and you'd made up your mind about me. I'm just downright glad to see you, because I shared those dreams of yours, you know, and I'm so glad to see you winning your way. You're out of the past, the silk counter past, and I'm out of the past, the Mrs. Adams past. That's all it is, isn't it?"

BREAKS AT DANCES PUZZLE VISITOR FROM CHICAGO

Nine O'clock Thanksgiving Ball
Is Brilliant Event of Season

Elaborate in detail and characteristically brilliant in effect was the first of the series of winter dances given by the Nine O'Clocks, exclusive social organization at the Piedmont Driving club Wednesday evening.

The beautiful affair assembled several hundred members of Atlanta's society contingent, a number of lovely visitors lending color and charm to the occasion.

Ballroom Decorations.
The ballroom of the club presented a veritable sea of riotous color with its gay Thanksgiving decorations forming a background for the handsome costumes worn by society's fairest representatives. Crepe paper, embossed in the emblematic turkey, festooned the walls throughout the length of the room. Brilliantly colored balloons, also bearing the turkey, were clustered between the columns and suspended by single ribbons to form a floating canopy above the dancers. Balloons were further introduced on silver ropes which extended from column to column across the width of the ballroom, being interspersed at intervals with turkeys, their wings spread in flight.

At either end of the ballroom, standing guard at the fireplace and at the bandstand was a majestic turkey, the reigning monarch of the season, rising in relief against a colorful background of brilliant autumn foliage.

An elaborate and tempting Thanksgiving dinner was served at 11:30 o'clock from the kitchen, with a variety of fall flowers charmingly arranged in French baskets. Extremely new and interesting were the favors which were imported from all guests. Further enhancing the attractiveness of the tables were a number of noise makers, rattles and rattles.

Breakfast was served at 3:30 o'clock.

Beautiful Costumes.
Notable among the lovely costumes seen was that worn by Mrs. Frank Owens, a becoming model of soft green satin with a garniture of hand-made French leaves. Mrs. Cator Woolford was a striking figure wearing black chiffon embroidered with rhinestones.

Mrs. John Westmoreland wore pink chiffon effectively combined with silver lace.

Mrs. Charles Orme's lovely costume was of cardinal red crepe, fashionably draped.

Mrs. Ida Sadler's gown was of yellow georgette crepe elaborately beaded in crystal beads and finished with deep crystal fringe.

Mrs. Ellen Newell wore a gown of lacy blue panne velvet, with a bodice of silver lace.

Mrs. Samuel Forgy, of Miami, Fla., was among the prominent visitors, and was wearing a gown of silver and pink, trimmed in chiffon of the same shade.

Mrs. Elsie Robinson Dickey's gown was of hyacinth blue satin, studded with rhinestones.

Mrs. Mary Sadler was wearing a gown of blue and pink, with a shaggy pink chrysanthemum of deep and light shades ornamented the left shoulder of the gown.

Mrs. Louis Gregg wore a becoming gown of blue chiffon with crystal trimmings.

Mrs. Grady Black was lovely in a Nile green chiffon gown elaborately trimmed in crystal beads.

Mrs. Jackson Dick wore a gown of green crepe embroidered in rhinestones.

Mrs. Angel Allen wore a beautiful gown of blue chiffon with crystal trimmings.

Mrs. Grace Goldsmith was stunning in a flesh colored chiffon gown trimmed with a band of brown fur. Her hat was of gold lace and trimmed with crushed roses in brown and rosewood.

Mrs. William McKenney was wearing a gown of dark green velvet.

Mrs. Jesse Draper wore a handsome gown of dark green velvet.

Mrs. Floyd McKee was handsome, wearing a light green chiffon, embroidered in crystal beads.

Mrs. Wimberly Peters wore a lovely gown of black net, embroidered in beads of different colors, and worn over a silver broadcloth slip.

Mrs. Arthur Clarke was wearing in metal cloth, combined with broadcloth silver cloth.

Interesting Notes From Woodberry Hall.

Three basketball teams have been organized at Woodberry hall. A practice game will be played with O'Keefe Junior High this week. Miss Mary Bingham, who was so popular last year as referee, will referee this game. Miss Theresa Newton is coach of the Woodberry team. The basketball court has been put in fine shape for the season's games.

Friday morning Miss Sarah Haskell gave an interesting talk on the work of the Red Cross in the United States and overseas.

Mrs. Gordon Lee, of Miami, Fla., is spending a week with her daughter, Miss Albert Lee, who is a resident student of Woodberry hall.

Miss Margaret Shingler and Miss Mary Maxwell, of Lafayette, Ga., were guests at Woodberry hall last week. They came to attend the Tech-Georgia game.

Miss M. Butt, of Augusta, Ga., was the guest of Miss Theresa Newton, of Woodberry.

Miss Mary Louise Wilcox will spend the Thanksgiving holidays in Chattanooga, Tenn., where she will attend a house party given by Miss Ethel Knapp.

Miss Alvin van Dyke, of Memphis, Tenn., spent the week-end with her sister, Miss Marion van Dyke, and attended the tea-dance at the Biltmore hotel.

An interesting event of Thursday afternoon was a meeting of the Lumbia Lumbia Club held at the home of Miss Elizabeth Hetzel on Highland avenue. Bowls of yellow and white chrysanthemums were placed throughout the large living room.

Instead of the regular business meeting a shower was given to Miss Mary Ellen Garvin, of Thornwell orphanage, who has been adopted by the club. Miss Hetzel was assisted in entertaining by her mother, Mrs. W. F. Hetzel.

Those present were Miss Hetzel, Mrs. J. A. Craig, Miss Sarah Haskell, Miss Lillian Head, Miss Marion Houston, Miss Cynthia Ward, Miss Gladys Cole, Miss Virginia Branch, Miss Louise Brewer, Miss Frances Adams, Miss Stevie Gay, Miss Zaidie Ivy and Miss Thelma McCorkle.

Miss Marie Shaw To Entertain.

Miss Marie Shaw, assisted by her mother, Mrs. Joseph Shaw, will entertain at a bridge-ten on Friday afternoon at the Druid Hills Golf club.

Those invited are Misses Elizabeth Colbert, Mary Williamson, Sara Lane Smith, Penelope Brown, Alice Gray Harrison, Inogene Hudson, Marion Bryan, Verdery Brown, Lella Mason, Elsie Mullin, Martha Morrow, Elizabeth Thompson, Nancy Downing, Jean Nutting, Betty Cole, Dorothy May Phillips, Alice Sedon, Anabel Hancock, Adelyn McClatchey, Elizabeth Sutton, Bessie Thompson, Etta Russell, Martha Hudson, Louise Riser, Jane Slaughter, Jennie Lind Mather, Mary Frances Mather, Josephine Marchman, Lalla Hutchinson, Thelma Flestone, Jane Tway and Correll Orme.

Tom Thumb Wedding Friday Evening.

Lets Maddox circle of St. Paul M. E. church will repeat the Tom Thumb wedding at the Grant Park Masque temple Friday, November 27, 8 o'clock. A free will offering will be taken.

Deatur W. C. T. U. To Meet Tonight.

The Deatur W. C. T. U. will hold a special Stewart memorial service on this Thursday evening at the Deatur Presbyterian church, service beginning at 7:30 o'clock. Dr. Maguire, pastor of the Presbyterian church, will conduct the devotion.

A special musical program will be rendered. Rev. Marion Williams will speak on "Law Enforcement." The public is cordially invited to attend.

Miss Terrell Weds
Paul Wheeler Kirk
At Church Ceremony

A marriage characterized by beauty and simplicity was that of Miss Rowena Marshall Terrell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lee Foster Terrell, to Paul Wheeler Kirk, of Jacksonville, Fla., taking place Wednesday evening, at six-thirty o'clock at Epiphany church, Iman park.

Dr. L. O. Bricker performed the ceremony in the presence of a large assemblage of friends and relatives.

Just before the entrance of the bride party, Charles Wynne sang "Love You Truly" and "Until," accompanied by Miss Eula Hancock.

The altar was banked with palms and a garland of the rich green foliage gleamed the lights of many white tapers placed in the cathedral candelabra. Standing in relief were white pedestal vases of white chrysanthemums.

To the strains of the wedding march from "Lohengrin" the bride party entered. Coming first were the ushers, Robert L. Kelly and Charles F. Winburn.

The bride entered with her sister, Mrs. Charles F. Winburn, who was matron of honor and only attendant, and was met at the altar by the groom and his brother, Thomas S. Kirk, who acted as best man.

Mrs. Winburn wore a model of rosewood crepe romance, richly embroidered in brown and gold and bordered with a band of brown fur. Her hat was of gold lace and trimmed with crushed roses in brown and rosewood.

She carried a bouquet of pink roses showered with valley lilies.

The lovely bride wore a smart model of blue crepe romance made with a fold falling gracefully from the shoulder down the side and extending to form the circular skirt embroidered in the pastel shades. Her hat was of gold lace trimmed in French flowers. She carried a silver bouquet of bride roses and valley lilies.

The bride's mother, Mrs. Lee Foster Terrell, wore a gown of tulle crepe and her corsage bouquet was of Opulenta roses.

Mrs. George W. DeWitt, sister of the groom, wore brown crepe romance. Her corsage bouquet was of pink roses and valley lilies.

After the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Kirk left for a wedding trip to Washington, New York and other points in the east. After December 15, Mr. and Mrs. Kirk will be at home to their friends at 1437 Euclid avenue, Riverside, Jacksonville, Fla.

Cinderella Romance Is Woven
Around New York Visitors
Here for Thanksgiving

BY BEVERLY BURGESS.

Like a romance from an old time, reads the love story of two Atlanta visitors for the Thanksgiving holidays, Mr. and Mrs. William Sturgis, of New York city.

Little Margaret Quinby, a charming Atlanta girl, daughter of the L. T. D. Quinbys, and granddaughter of the W. A. Hemphills, pioneer citizens of Atlanta, is the heroine of this thrilling modern romance.

Year after year these two families, the Quinbys and Sturgises, would meet, first at Virginia resorts and then at fashionable New York watering places. Friends of long standing were they. The stalwart, handsome young cavalier in the Sturgis family, very probably, had had the little girl in the family of his friends, in his heart for many years without a consciousness of this being the case.

At last, when the broad waters of the Atlantic separated them, came a realization of just how much this beautiful young Atlanta meant to him and with the realization, came the cable back through the blue waters, "Margaret, I love you!"

A hasty return to America, a delightful cruise with friends, in northern waters, summer nights, soft breezes, moonlight, the splash of rippling waters, the same old sweet story, all combined to complete the Cinderella romance of this Atlanta girl.

Margaret has many friends in this, her home, made during her girlhood days spent in the picturesque haunts around the Brookhaven club, where the Quinby home was located, and during days of college life at Oglethorpe university, who wish for her and her Prince Charming, all the happiness, which is their right.

Mr. Sturgis, who comes from a fine old English family, is a man of affairs on Wall street. He is a popular member of many of New York's exclusive clubs and is himself president of the Tarrymore Island club in Virginia. This is an organization of forty-five of New York's most prominent men, who count their fortunes in figures of seven places and over. He has visited Atlanta before and has friends here.

At present Mrs. and Mr. Sturgis are the guests for the Thanksgiving holidays, of Mrs. Sturgis' father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. L. T. D. Quinby, in Ansley Park. Many beautiful courtesies are being shown these interesting visitors while they are Atlanta guests.

Little pat is given in good-bye, as hearty a greeting as possible given to the new partner, and then the whole thing starts all over again! Think of the nervous strain of saying "Good-bye" and "How-do-you-do" so many times in one evening!

Driving Club Faux Pas.

If you think this matter of breaking gracefully is to be regarded lightly, your education in the social tactics in popular use today has been sadly neglected. Probably you think an acquaintance with punts, forward passes, field goals or touchdowns of much more importance, especially at this particular period of history—Atlanta history—but there is really something in the world besides football, difficult as it might be to convince you of this fact at this time.

The art of breaking gracefully should be cultivated assiduously by all who expect to participate in southern dances. Western and northern men do not seem to acquire it easily.

Recently visiting in Atlanta was a very attractive Chicago man who was extended the courtesy of the clubs by friends during his visit to us. He failed not to make the most of this courtesy, attending many of the social functions at the various clubs.

He also availed himself of the invitation to meet some of Atlanta's charming girls, going with friends to call. One Sunday afternoon, during the "at home" hours of one of our debutantes—should-be, with a friend he presented himself at her door. Upon being ushered in by the butler he was introduced to a room full of strangers.

Amongst these was Charlie Tuller, a frequent of all Driving club functions. After acknowledging the introduction with due decorum, turning to his hostess, in an undertone he said, "We have met before! That is the — Yankee whom I came so near to knocking down last night at the Driving club when he tugged at my coattail to break!"

You see some of the points in favor of learning to do this thing of breaking on the ball room floor according to Hoyle!

Miss Hunter Honors
Charming Visitors
At Lovely Tea

Miss Elizabeth Hunter was hostess Wednesday at tea at her home on Peachtree road, the occasion honoring Miss Mary Newman Parrish, of Birmingham, and Miss Frances Boykin, of this city.

Miss Hunter was assisted in entertaining by her mother, Mrs. Joel Hunter; her aunt, Mrs. Ross Hunter; Miss Ethel Hunter and Mrs. W. R. Turman.

Invited to meet the honor guests were Misses Susan Jones, Frances McKenzie, Mary Meador Goldsmith, Louisa Chandler, Mary Adair Howell, Josephine Crawford, Jean Lucas, Lisa Quay, Mary Morrison, Mary Elinor Kemp, Jane McMillan, Lundy Sharp, Florence Bryan, Mary Bryan, Murdock Walker, Margaret Underwood, Mary Phillips Orme, Mary Frances Conway, Nelle Bailes, Vaughn Nixon, Clara McConnell, Patty Porter, Lydia Hooks, Macie Dickey, May Latimer, Louise Shivers, Frances Clarke, Constance Adams, Charlotte King, Elizabeth Thompson, Harriet Jacobs, Rebecca Collinsworth, Margaret Luller, Elinor Smith, Ida Thomas, Josephine Richardson, Susan Collier, Emily Ingles, Martha Williams and Margaret Tate, of Tate, Ga.

Miss Parrish will remain as the guest of Miss Hunter throughout the Thanksgiving holidays. Many delightful social affairs will be given in her honor.

W. U. Bible Club To Meet Friday.

The Woman's Union Bible club, which meets regularly on Thursday morning at 10 o'clock, will meet this week on Friday at 10 o'clock on account of Thanksgiving.

The class is taught by Mrs. T. R. Kendall, who is a most able and interesting Bible scholar.

The lesson for this week will embrace the book of I Thessalonians. The club is undenominational and the public is cordially welcomed.

At a recent big football game, one of our youthful ex-citizens, who is now a Florida banker—of what rank, I know not—came a-driving up to the game in one of the cars answering to the description just given.

On the Saturday afternoon, just before the game was called, in this lovely, shining thing, with one of Atlanta's fairest daughters by his side, he started up Peachtree with the speedometer registering easily 40 or 50 miles an hour.

On approaching the rear end of a fast-moving street car, without slackening his speed one iota, he took the left-hand side of it, there being a car directly in line on the right-hand side, and moved right on to town.

The girl with him, seeing what was happening, was in a perfect state of collapse.

"Harvey!" she screamed. "Do you realize what you have done?"

"What?" said the innocent ex-Atlanta.

"Do you know what the penalty would be for passing a street car on the wrong side?"

"Wrong side?" stoutly maintained the youth. "Do you have wrong

Man Who Gives Lift to Hikers Is Robbed of Car

Forsyth, Ga., November 25.—(Special.)—After he had given two young men a lift in his new car at Indian Springs, and riding to a lonely spot about six miles from Forsyth, Robert Seligman had a pistol placed at his side and made to hand over a cash amounting to nearly $70, a diamond ring, and was then made to get out of his car which the men drove away with his grips into the darkness.

At the nearest farmhouse he was shown the way to the home of County Policeman Jim Bowden, who brought him into town where he went the night and where he was left for funds to continue his journey. Seligman's home is in Toledo, Ohio, from which place he was traveling to Hollywood, Fla.

He says he had just bought the car and had insured for $1,000 but the policy was in his grip which was stolen. The young men were shabbily dressed, Seligman said, and were of only ordinary intelligence. Their ages were given as about 16 or 17. Officers from Forsyth went to the vicinity of the robbery but were unable to get any trace of men or car.

Amusements

At Atlanta Theater.

Just the ideal holiday show is "My Girl," the delightful musical comedy success which will give two performances today at the Atlanta theater, matinee at 2:30 and night at 8:30. A most satisfying metropolitan cast of players well interprets the rollicking comedy of the play, while one of the best dancing choruses seen in Atlanta in many a day lends speed and dash to the performance. The engagement continues throughout the week. "My Girl" is a show no one can afford to miss.

Coming to the Atlanta.

Described as the most successful and brilliant opera of the present age, "The Student Prince" with its famous singing chorus of 60 voices and a metropolitan cast of artists comes to the Atlanta theater next Monday night for an engagement of one week with matinee Wednesday and Saturday. "The Student Prince" is said to even surpass the fine music and the romantic story and charm of "Hussie Time." The stories of these two operas are in no way alike, still there is a bond between the two in that Signum Romberg is the composer of the music of both pieces, and Dorothy Donnelly is the librettist. Seats are now on sale.

Keith's Forsyth.

Ned Norworth, popular composer and musical comedy favorite who is known as "Broadway's Wednesday Son" will present his inimitable revue as the headlining attraction on the program at Keith's Forsyth theater the last three days of this week.

Mr. Norworth, whose best known songs are "Poppies," "Witch Hazel," and "Tales" is assisted in his present vehicle by Patricia Caron.

In addition the program includes the act of Fred Lewis, the unusual comedian. Sylvester and Vance, for a comedy oddity entitled, "Horses," and Bezzanz and White, famous phonograph record artists, present some of the music that has endeared them to thousands of fans.

Irma, Balmus and Milo offer a "Study in Art."

Motion pictures of the Georgia Tech-Auburn football game will be shown.

Loew's Grand.

Thanksgiving day will be celebrated at Loew's Grand by the presentation of one of the best vaudeville bills ever seen in any theater in Atlanta. The bill is headed by Ethel Nelson, a sterling funmaker who recently starred in "Artists and Models," and other big Broadway shows. He is a pastmaster in singing comic songs and in telling funny stories. George N. Brown, in his unique walking act which is sprinkled with comedy also is in the headline. In a natural comical and on the Denny Sisters and Tom Thibault, in a marvelous dancing act. The Loew feature picture is "Lights of Old Broadway," with the popular Marion Davies, four performances of the vaudeville show will be given Thursday.

At the Howard.

This week's motion picture and musical bill at the Howard is one of the most attractive that has been offered in this section. The feature picture is Gloria Swanson in "Stage Struck," in which this popular screen star appears in the role of a waitress in a restaurant. The picture is a comedy and is a most unusual tale as a character actress. The first early and closing scenes of the picture are really a masterpiece of the director, and the picture is a most unusual tale as a character actress. The first early and closing scenes of the picture are really a masterpiece of the director, and the picture is a most unusual tale as a character actress.

The Rialto.

A special program will be offered today at the Rialto theater in celebration of Thanksgiving. William H. Hays, director of the Rialto orchestra, will present a fitting musical program. The feature picture of the week, "The Ancient Highway," will be shown, in addition a New maid comedy, "Beware," Pathe News, and a special Thanksgiving film.

Alpha Theater.

The Alaska of the days of the Klondike gold rush, the long prospecting, mining, big and little and young; dance halls and dance hall girls and hangers-on; mining camp types and the greatest of all looking over passengers; newspaper correspondents and photographers—this is the picture that the people of Atlanta are shown in "Charlie's Aunt," a picture in Charlie Chaplin's new motion picture comedy, "The Gold Rush," heralded by critics and experts as the greatest of all comedies, is this week's attraction at the Alpha theater.

The New West End Theater.

Atlanta's newest playhouse has opened Monday in West End on Lee street. Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday the beautiful little theater was packed with patrons looking over. Regardless of size or price, there is no theater anywhere in the city with more beauty and comfort. Thanksgiving day today is one that will make you thankful. Syd Chaplin in "Charlie's Aunt." No picture was ever filmed that captures so many laughs as does this picture. There is comedy in every foot of it; good, clean, high class comedy. If you have not seen Syd Chaplin in this picture, don't miss it tomorrow (Friday) will be another knockout comedy, "Excuse Me," starring that screen beauty, Norma Shearer, and Comedian Nage. The road comedy taken from the big stage success of the same name, "Fatty" Hiers, the Georgia comedian, plays the role of the colored porter.

The Metropolitan.

The original jazz orchestra of the big line, the U. S. S. Leviathan, on its first tour of the waters, is at the stage attraction this week at the Metropolitan theater. They were all personally selected for the trip by one of the most famous and popular of the big stage comedians, Paul Whiteman. The big feature picture is "Why Women Love," featuring Blanche Sweet, who has such a large following.

"81" Tickets Go Fast.

Advance seat sales through Wednesday point to one of the biggest crowds ever assembled at a mid-week night at the Eighty-One theater, according to Manager Charles P. Bailey, who opens the season with a big late-hour show, "The Musical Comedy." Seal and Mitchell's musical comedy offering will present a group of

The Day in Finance

Southern Railway Common

Leads Market Trading in Railway Issues; Stock Prices Move Higher on Short Covering.

New York, November 25.—Trading in stocks today was comparatively light as a result of the approaching holiday. Prices were higher on short covering. The feeling here is that the market is still heavily oversold.

Interest centered what the Federal reserve bank would do in the matter of its discount rate, the meeting occurring after close of the stock market. Speculation that the rate would be raised to 6 per cent was the talk of the day. The betting however favored no change.

Chairs were strong on the growing conviction that the transportation act of 1920 would be changed by the fourth session of congress. The interstate commerce commission could approve the Nickel Plate merger and other voluntary railway consolidations. As that law now stands congress ordered the interstate commerce commission to merge all of the roads of the country into a limited number of systems, and approve only voluntary mergers which harmonize with and further the complete consolidation of the railroads.

With the general business situation and outlook better and more promising than it has been since long before the war, the market is beginning to be made in taxes, with the promise of much headway being made in the next few months in the problem of the automobile.

Curb Scores Gain in Brisk Trading.

New York, November 25.—(By the Associated Press.)—Prices of curb securities made further recovery today in another session of brisk trading, which was featured by an advance in selling pressure. Public utilities were in demand, several issues scoring substantial gains, while the radio group, which recently has been held in check by liquidation, displayed decidedly improved tone.

Metropolitan.

Sharp advances were scored by several of the public utilities, American Light and Traction featuring the group with a net gain of 8 points. United Light and Power and Lehigh Power securities each advanced 2 points or more.

Next Clothes Make Week The Pirate.

Reports that American Rayon Products would be consolidated with a large industrial corporation brought heavy buying into these shares, which closed for a gain of more than 3 points.
